

Carpenters' Dinner Will Honor Compensation Head

Members of the Hudson Valley District Council of Carpenters will honor its president, George Yerry Jr., with a testimonial dinner Sunday, April 17, it was announced today.

Open to Public

Plans for the testimonial were announced today by Hyman Zamansky, acting president and general agent, who said the event was open to the public.

The testimonial is scheduled for the Nevele Country Club, Rt. 209, Ellenville, beginning with a cocktail party at 6:30 p. m. Dinner, floor show and dancing will comprise the remainder of the program.

Yerry, who has served 25 years with the District Council of Carpenters, was named about the first of the year by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller as commissioner of the New York State Workmen's Compensation Board.

"It is our belief," Zamansky told The Freeman today "that many of George's friends would like to participate with us in expressing their thanks for his past services and wishing him success in his new future." As a result, Zamansky added, the event will be open to the public on a first-come, first-serve basis.

Yerry, a native of Woodland, currently resides at 133 Highland Avenue. Prior to entering the labor field, he was employed as district superintendent of Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp. from 1928 to 1938 and was manager of the Standard Air Conditioning Division, American Radiator Corp., Albany, from 1938 to 1941.

Chairman of Housing

In addition to his labor activities, Yerry is well-known in the civic affairs of the community. He served as member of the Kingston Charter Revision Committee, 1948; chairman of Price Control, Kingston OPA, 1941-43; trustee of Kingston Hospital, director of the Kingston Community Chest, director of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce, a member of the Renewal Agency and chairman of the Kingston Housing Authority from 1945 to 1966.

Among his affiliations are: Gov. Rockefeller's Committee on Manpower retaining, member of Hudson River Valley Commission, director of Ulster County Community Action Committee (Anti - Poverty); director Patrons for Progress Inc.

On the labor front Yerry served as state chairman of the Labor Committee for the Re-election of Gov. Rockefeller co-chairman of the State Labor Committee for the re-election of former U. S. Senator Kenneth E. Keating and a member of the labor committee for the election of President.

End Car-Safety Hearings

Solon Predicts Call For Mandated Rules

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Warren G. Magnuson predicted today the Senate Commerce Committee which he heads will call for mandatory safety standards for cars.

Magnuson told newsmen this seemed to be the feeling of a majority of the members of the committee, which concluded hearings Wednesday on President Johnson's highway safety legislation.

Expects Amendment

The administration bill would authorize, but not require, the secretary of commerce to set motor vehicle safety standards after two years.

Magnuson said he thought the committee would amend the bill to direct that standards be issued and also to require the adoption of interim standards pending further research and testing.

Such temporary standards, Magnuson said, could be worked out after consultation with the industry. He said they could provide for collapsible steering wheels, dual brakes and "other things the industry apparently is going to do anyway."

Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., who was presiding when the hearings ended, expressed hope that the auto industry would move forward at a rapid pace even though this would mean some financial sacrifice.

As the hearings neared their windup Wednesday, Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., introduced a bill that would require notify owners and the public in general of automobile defects which could cause traffic accidents.

Provides Immediate Protection

Mondale said the safety standards under the administration's bill would not become effective for three or four years if the proposal is approved. But he said that if his measure is approved, it would take effect immediately.

Congress Closes Shop Both Houses Busy in Pre-Easter Rush

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress starts its Easter recess today after approving the food-for-India program and a two-month extension in signups for doctors' bills insurance under Medicare.

In a big pre-holiday push Wednesday, the House also passed a 2.9-per cent pay raise for 1.8 million federal workers and two major money bills totaling $8.3 billion to finance activities of the Treasury, Post Office and Interior Departments in the fiscal year starting July 1.

The Senate was busy approving President Johnson's proposal to transfer the Community Relations Service, which mediates civil rights disputes, from the Commerce to the Justice Department.

After recessing today the House will be off until April 18. The Senate plans to come back April 17 for debate — but no immediate action — on Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen's proposed constitutional amendment to modify the Supreme Court ruling that both houses of state legislatures must be apportioned according to population.

Many congressmen will take advantage of the recess to return home to feel the public pulse on such matters as Viet Nam, government spending and inflation, and to get in a bit of campaigning for November's congressional elections.

But six senators and seven representatives plus staff members and wives plan to spend the holiday in Australia — with stops also in Honolulu, New Zealand and perhaps Tahiti.

They left Wednesday on an expense-paid junket as U.S. delegates to the spring meeting of the Interparliamentary Union in Canberra, Australia. The stops are being made because their Air Force jets lack sleeping facilities, they said.

Apparently buried in the flurry of legislative activity Wednesday was what House Speaker John W. McCormack

Supervisors Will Hear Plan on 14th

Major H. Edgar Timmerman, Ulster County director of civil defense has announced he has contacted every member of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors urging favorable action of the Board April 14 on the construction of an Emergency Operating Center for Ulster County.

This underground installation protected from radioactive fallout is necessary and essential in the interest of public safety, health and welfare to assure continuity of government which would function properly and efficiently during emergency conditions.

Other Conditions

These emergency conditions may include, but shall not be limited to, conflagrations, explosions, earthquakes, or other convulsions of nature, floods, pestilence, riots, insurrections, storms, prolonged failure of electric power, or essential transportation services, or any incident which causes danger to life, health or property from exposure to noxious materials or radiation, he said.

Recover Missing H-Bomb, Missing Since January 17

MADRID (AP) — An American H-bomb missing since the crash of a U.S. nuclear bomber Jan. 17, has been recovered from the Mediterranean off Spain's southeast coast, it was officially announced today.

The bomb, which was lost when a B52 bomber and a tanker plane collided over Palomares Beach, was recovered by a U.S. naval task force which had been searching the sea depths for more than two months.

The bomb was located in 2,500 feet of water about five miles offshore on March 15 by the

Kiwanis Starts Fund

Burial will be in Mt. Marion Cemetery. Friends may call at the Keyser Funeral Service, Kingston Chapel, Albany and Manor Avenues, today 7 to 9 and Friday 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p. m.

Raymond Meyers, president of Kingston Kiwanis Club, announced that the club has founded the Frederick H. Stang memorial fund in honor of the vice president of the organization. The fund will be used to create a collection of books on Lincoln and on government at the Kingston City Library of which Mr. Stang was past president. It will be a perpetuating fund to be added to each year.

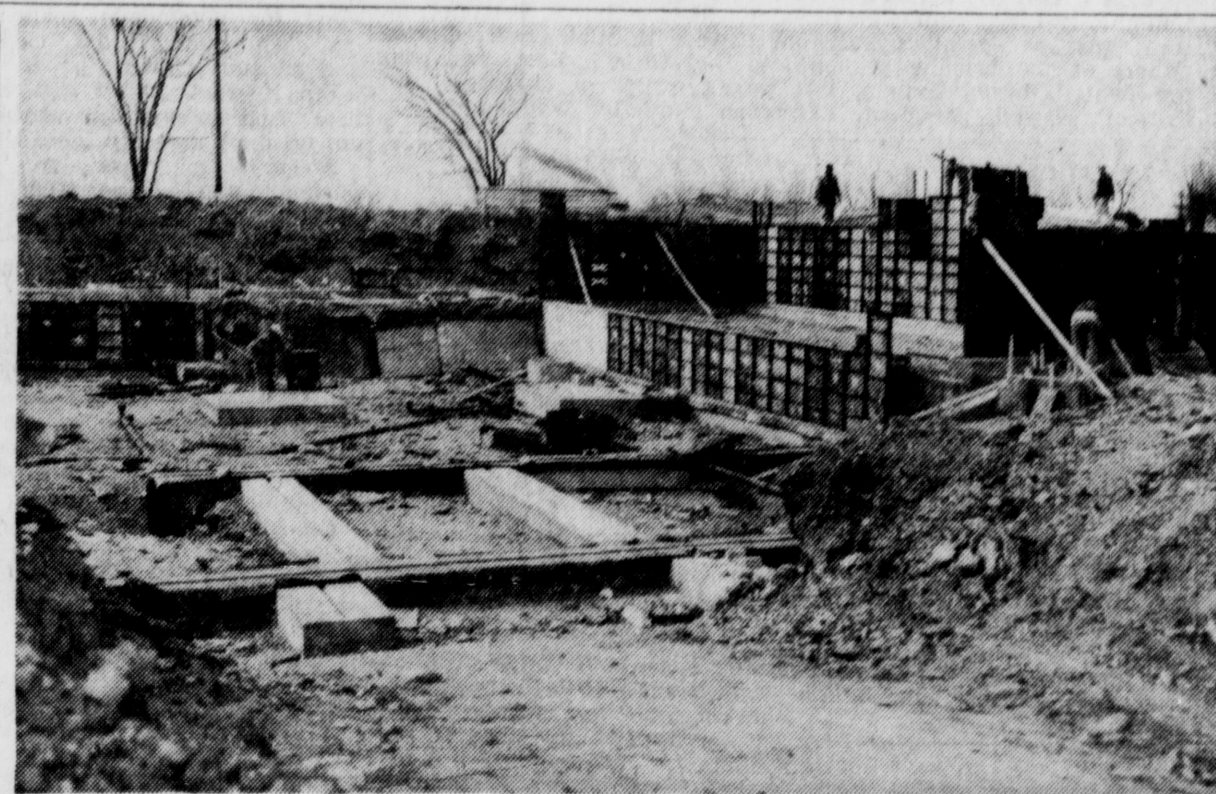

Mayor Leads Tributes

Mayor Raymond W. Garrahan, among those who emphasized the loss to the city, said flags on municipal buildings will be at half staff for 30 days.

Comment from the mayor and others:

Mayor Garrahan: Kingston has lost a great man and citizen, Fred Stang. Mayor of Kingston 1954-1958. He will be missed by all. Spada Will Seek GOP Nomination For County Clerk

Deputy County Clerk, Albert Spada of Kingston, announced today that he will seek the Republican nomination for county clerk of Ulster County.

Spada, who has served for the past four years as deputy county clerk under County Clerk Lawrence D. Craft, said today that he is prepared to wage an active campaign throughout the county and, if elected, he will be able to bring a broad background of administrative experience to this most important office.

Will Not Run

Craft, a resident of Ellenville, now completing his fourth term, announced last week that he will not seek reelection.

Spada, who was born in Glasco, Town of Saugerties on Sept. 9, 1932, now resides at 136 St. James Street with his wife, the former Mary Frances Keegan of Brooklyn, and their two children, Albert Jr., age two and Charles Terrance, one. The Republican candidate attended public schools in Saugerties and Kingston, and is a graduate of the District of the Stone Ridge site moved above ground level.

Placement and various uses of the new buildings was outlined in the initial phase to cost approximately $2.5 million. The construction timetable calls for occupancy by February.

Plans 8 Buildings

The master plan, as conceived by Augustus R. Schrowang Associates, architects, and William R. Breger, consulting architect and site planner, resulted in a campus plan with a complex of eight educational buildings, each efficient and practical with internal flexibility.

But the master plan also capitalized on the beauty of the area and resulted in an imaginative campus layout. It related each building to the entire complex and to the landscape and the terrain.

The total master plan with the eight buildings, the roads, the parking areas, and the other necessary facilities was officially approved by the Board of Trustees of the college, the Ulster Board of Supervisors and the State University of New York.

The college academic plan, like the campus master plan, is flexible and comprehensive. The scientific and technical needs of the space age must be met, but equal attention is given to the important areas of the arts, the humanities and the social sciences.

The needs of business, industry, government and a host of other areas of our society have helped to form and fashion the curricula and the campus. But the importance of the creative arts and the interests of students who have been influenced by the individuals of national and international renown in literature, art, music and drama who reside in Ulster County, particularly in Woodstock, have also had an impact on college development plans.

Ask Milder Labor Laws

Urges Condon-Wadlin Outright Kill

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller's special panel of labor-management advisors today urged outright repeal of the state's controversial Condon-Wadlin Law and recommended milder legislation.

The panel of professors reported that it favored penalizing civil service workers who strike by imposing provisions of the present civil service law. The recommendation has been endorsed at public hearings by civil service unions.

The panel also urged that unions be penalized in the event of a strike by cancellation of the union's dues check-off privileges. Civil service unions opposed such earlier recommendations.

The advisory group, headed by Dr. George W. Taylor, of the University of Pennsylvania, did not urge action against individual union leaders who direct a strike. Bills have been introduced in the current Legislature that would impose stiff penalties

Lease Sought Of Ruzzo's For Schools

The Ulster County Board of Cooperative Education Services is currently negotiating for the lease of the Ruzzo building on Grand Street as a vocational education facility.

If negotiations are successful the site would be used by Kingston, Saugerties and Ontonagon High School students. Kingston and Saugerties School system recently joined the board and it was announced at that time that such a facility would be opened in the Kingston area. The BOCES office and class rooms are on Route 32 in New Paltz.

The board is waiting now to hear from lawyers. The alternative would be consideration of construction of a building outside Kingston, but only if current negotiations fall through.

Rotron to Start 50 Employees at Boiceville Plant

Rotron Manufacturing Co., Inc., of Woodstock, has leased the former Boiceville Lanes at Boiceville for expansion of normal light manufacturing operations, it was learned today.

Charles Raible, plant manager and vice-president of Rotron, said about 50 employees now assigned to Plant 2 on Rock City Road, Woodstock, will report for work on Monday at the Boiceville plant. The corporation signed a lease for the building on April 1.

The light manufacturing work requires benches and those have been installed. Rotron will continue normal operations at Plants 1 and 2 in Woodstock. The move to Boiceville was made necessary because of lack of sufficient space at Plant 2, it was said.

A report that Rotron planned to build a new plant at Shokan, and continue the Woodstock operations, was denied by a company official.

Jolt Hopes Of Easing Viet Woes

Atrocity Charged In Killing of 25

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Hundreds of antigovernment demonstrators poured toward downtown Saigon tonight and burned a U.S. military police jeep a few hours after Buddhist leaders demanded that Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's military regime pledge publicly to give way to a civilian government in five or six months.

No Americans were reported injured.

Orders Draft for Youths

Saigon's mayor, Lt. Col. Van Van Cua, issued orders for the immediate induction into the military of all youths of draft age arrested in the rioting, municipal government sources reported.

As the violence spread, part of the mob turned its wrath on an American civilian and a Vietnamese girl trying to maneuver through on a motorcycle. They drove the couple off with a barrage of rocks and shattered glass windows and doors of a house where they had sought refuge.

Cycle Set Ablaze

The demonstrators dragged off the motorcycle and also set it ablaze.

A jeep with three Vietnamese policemen arrived and hurled tear gas grenades at the mob as flames engulfed the motorcycle to the cheers of the mob. Several more jeeps with American military policemen and Vietnamese security police sped to the scene.

A battalion of paratroopers waded into the rioters and sent them scurrying down side streets. Some began regrouping to continue their descent on the downtown area in the fifth continuous day of unrest in the capital's streets.

The Buddhist hierarchy earlier instructed its militant young supporters to remain quiet until the junta replied to its request for a public pledge to turn over power to a popularly elected constituent assembly within five or six months.

The Buddhist statement said the government had promised this privately.

Hopes that the month-long political crisis was easing a bit were jolted when 500 demonstrators emerged from the Buddhist compound on the outskirts of the city. As they marched toward the center of the city with their familiar anti-government banners, they attracted hundreds of supporters.

Strange Calm Before

Until then a strange calm had prevailed in Saigon, with no sign of any antigovernment or anti-American agitators.

Heavy fighting flared 20 miles northwest of Saigon between the U.S. 25th Infantry Division and the Viet Cong.

By midafternoon, 24 Communists were reported killed and the shooting was continuing around what appeared to be a Viet Cong base camp in the Ho Bo Woods, an old Red stronghold.

It was the only significant ground action reported for the day.

Raible Is Named Campaign Head For Chest Drive

Charles E. Raible will head Chest Campaign in September and October for funds to support 13 volunteer health, welfare, recreation and character building agencies in county for the year 1967.

He is widely known in the county for his active participation in numerous community activities and as vice-president of manufacturing at Rotron in Woodstock and Saugerties.

Raible issued the following statements, "I look forward with enthusiasm to the challenge in this year's campaign. The goal will be much greater than in previous years; with the accelerated war effort and the greater number of men in service from our county has placed demands on some of the agencies; the Salvation Army has returned to the Chest and all agencies are plagued with financial problems due to population increases in all areas of the county.

The goal will be issued in June after all agency budgets are carefully reviewed by the budget committee. It is necessary to begin now to recruit workers, organize and train to insure all residents in the county are contacted and given the opportunity to contribute.

Raible attended St. Peter's School and Kingston High School. He is chairman of one of the task forces in the Citizens Survey Committee of Ulster County, member of Elks Lodge No. 550, BPOE, member American Society of Tool and Manufacturing Engineers, director of the Ulster County Chapter of the American Red Cross, director of YMCA, vice president on the Board of the Ulster County Community Chest, Woodstock Township Fund Drive Chairman, Boy Scouts of America 1965, Ulster County Fund Drive Chairman, American Red Cross 1963 and a member of the County Vocational Educational Advisory Board.

PLAN CHEST CAMPAIGN—Newly appointed Ulster County Community Chest campaign director, Charles Raible, second from right, goes over details of fall fund drive with other chest officials. TODAY IN HISTORY

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Thursday, April 7, the 97th day of 1966. There are 268 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1788, a band of 47 men stepped ashore at what was to be Marietta, Ohio, wrote a set of laws and established the first formally organized government in what was then the Northwest.

On this date
In 1770, the English poet, William Wordsworth, was born.

In 1798, Congress organized the territory of Mississippi, including the present state of Alabama.

In 1891, showman Phineas T. Barnum died.

In 1933, beer and wine became legal in the United States after 13 dry years.

In 1945, U.S. carrier planes sank Japan's largest battleship — the Yamato — off Kyushu island coast.

Ten years ago — A Senate select committee found that a campaign gift rejected by Republican Sen. Francis Case of South Dakota was offered to influence the senator's vote on the natural gas bill. Later, two attorneys for the Superior Oil Co. of California and the firm were indicted for alleged violation of lobby laws.

Five years ago — British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan interrupted a Washington visit with President John F. Kennedy to address a centennial audience at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology at Cambridge, Mass.

One year ago — President Johnson, in a television-radio speech, said the United States was prepared to take part in unconditional discussions to end the war in Viet Nam.

NEW YORK (AP) — Suddenly women are glowing in the dark, shining in the rain and dancing the frug in dresses that look like everything from sandwich wrap to elephant hide.

The beaches this summer will be dotted with lasses in waterproof bikinis, topped by see-through jackets.

Gives New Shine

The material they wear is vinyl, a chameleon-like plastic that has given a new shine to fashion.

Production of all types of vinyl shot up from 46 million yards in 1963 to 75 million yards last year. Output for 1966 is projected at 95 million yards.

For years, the chemical companies have been turning out vinyl for automobile seat covers, wallpaper, radio casings and stickum shelving paper.

But it cracked, felt stiff, held heat. And no one was about to cut up the upholstery for a shirt.

About three years ago "expanded" vinyl came from the research laboratories.

Soft Knitted Back

In the expanded vinyl the glossy face was laminated to an infinitesimal layer of vinyl foam and given a soft knitted backing.

Characteristics of the old vinyl discouraged profit-minded raincoat makers from trying the new materials.

But Paris fashion houses recognized its potential.

Courreges liked its drapability and came up with a white vinyl ball gown. Dior turned out a stretch vinyl ski suit.

The vinyl boom then started to spread through the United States.

There are vinyl suits, hip-hugger skirts, sailing togs, yeye dresses, tote bags, earrings, shoes, spats, boots and even dog blankets.

A 2-year-old playing in a mud puddle in a white vinyl sailor suit could be wiped clean in seconds.

If vinyl has gone from outerwear to everyday wear, it could go all the way to underwear.

Dean Shirley Retiring

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Hardy L. Shirley, 65, dean of the State University College of Forestry at Syracuse University since 1952, plans to retire Sept. 1.

Shirley announced his retirement Wednesday at the annual forestry dinner here. He joined the forestry college faculty in 1945 and is credited with promoting expansion of the college's facilities.

Harold G. Wilm, former state conservation commissioner, was believed among those being considered to replace Shirley.

New York Group Formed in 1768

Trace Chamber of Commerce Growth, Development Within the United States

The New York Chamber of Commerce, the oldest voluntary organization of business men in the world, has been functioning since 1768. The earlier French Chambers of Commerce performed a quasi-public function. The New York Chamber operated under a charter issued by King George of England.

The second oldest Chamber of Commerce in America is the Charleston, South Carolina Chamber of Commerce, founded in 1783. On April 9, 1794, the Chamber of Commerce of New Haven, Connecticut was organized and in 1801 a Chamber of Commerce was established in Philadelphia, Pa.

Three Basic Types

The Chamber of Commerce in modern America is an amalgam of several types of business organizations. The three basic types were:

The trading organizations — In such organizations the members met and traded with one another. Hence the name, "Board of Trade." It still exists in some areas, particularly in small towns. They were the predecessors of various commodity exchanges, the most outstanding being the Chicago Board of Trade.

Then there was the so-called protective organization. Businessmen banded together to protect themselves against high taxes and discriminatory regulations. The Boston Tea Party represents a protective type of business organization in action. In this instance, businessmen were giving expression to their objection to high taxes imposed by the reigning King of England.

And finally, there was the town booster type of organization. These were formed in the newer sections of the country. They sought new industry, boosted good roads, promoted motor tourist travel and encouraged population growth. Their slogan was "Let's make our town bigger by making it better." Very early in their existence this booster type of organization discovered that industrial or commercial growth must be economically justified. This led to the development of sound community programs which typify the modern Chamber of Commerce.

Cite Population

The change from an agrarian to an industrial nation brought great population growth to the commercial centers of the country. More people required more community facilities, schools, water works, parks, playgrounds, sewage disposal works and modern public buildings. These facilities cost money and in most instances could be financed only by issuing municipal bonds. The old-timers particularly the real property owners, who saw no personal profit from becoming "bigger cities," frequently voted against proposals to place the city's credit behind public improvement programs.

On the other hand, the manufacturers and suppliers of materials needed in the construction of public works were anxious to expand their market. Some of the more alert of the suppliers discovered that where there was an active local business organization to get behind the bond issue, the margin of successful flotation was higher than in communities without such organizations.

There is a saying that in this country we make progress through enlightened self-interest. One of the trade journals serving municipal and other government officials and the suppliers who served their needs sensed they had an enlightened self-interest. They felt that if they could persuade more communities to organize civic improvement associations, they could expand the market for the advertisers.

It took money to finance such organizations and the Chambers of Commerce became the vehicle by which civic-minded people could be mobilized "to build bigger communities by making them better."

Zeal Expands

The nation from 1915 to 1930 (the war years excepted) experienced a missionary zeal that extended to practically every county seat and town in the nation. This was the period of the town booster. Subdivisions were extended beyond normal city limits, municipal facilities were expanded and speculation in land was almost as extensive as speculation in the stock market.

When the stock market boom went "bust" in 1929, so did the land values in over-extended cities. As land values went down, so did the municipality's ability to service their over-extended bond capacity. Faced with high municipal taxes, the businessmen took a new look at their organization. Belatedly, they became tax conscious. Today the "cost of government" is a prominent part of the program of every Chamber of Commerce.

The post-depression period, the war period and the rapid industrial expansion following World War II brought new opportunities and new responsibilities to Chambers of Commerce.

Today the modern Chamber of Commerce is adequately financed and expertly staffed. It has sound programs to promote and protect business and civic activities that contribute to the development of business in that community.

Like government, the Chambers of Commerce in the United States are divided into three parts—local, state and national.

Met With President

Until 1912, the Chamber of Commerce movement had little or no cohesiveness. In that year at the request of President Taft, a group of businessmen met in Washington to organize what later became the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

The President, in addressing the organization conference, told businessmen that there was a need for an organization through which government could have the views of business on important pending legislation. Today the Chamber of Commerce of the United States is a federation of some 3,900 organization members with an underlying membership of more than 4,000,000 business firms.

There are at present thirty-nine state and regional Chambers of Commerce. The Ohio Chamber of Commerce is the oldest state Chamber of Commerce.

It was organized in 1893 "in effort to unify the businessmen of Ohio in order to develop a sensible system of taxation to meet the needs of the state without imposing a higher than necessary burden on business."

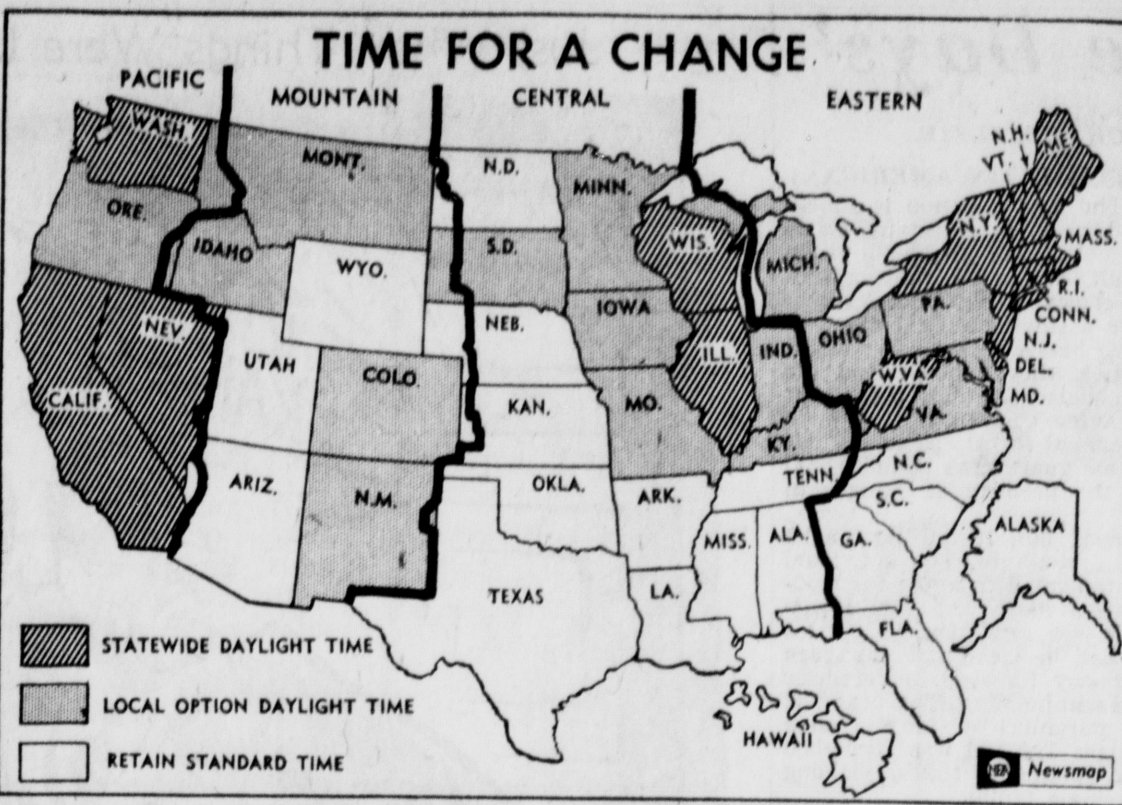

Business organizations, such as Chambers of Commerce, are frequently charged with being selfish and unconcerned with public welfare. The record of achievement of these organizations proves the contrary to be true. The Ohio Chamber of Commerce, for example, was responsible for the enactment of the first child labor law in the nation.

Had 2,500 Members

American Chamber of Commerce executives is the National Management Association made up of over 2,500 local and state Chamber of Commerce executives. It is dedicated to improving executive efficiency, establishing and maintaining ethical standards, and working toward the ultimate aim of community improvement throughout the United States by continually raising the caliber of Chamber executive performance.

It is active in the fields of education, public information, and publications. It keeps Chamber executives up-to-date on the latest techniques and information which enables them to do a better job.

This then, is the Chamber of Commerce movement in action accomplishing monumental tasks for the community, state and nation.

Congress has brought order out of chaos by making a federal case out of time. The United States long has had the reputation as the world's worst timekeeper. Newsmap, based on most recent state and local laws, shows the haphazard pattern resulting from no uniform policy on daylight saving time. To compound confusion, states and separate localities observing summertime set their own dates for starting and ending. In one local-option state alone, Iowa, communities made the switch on 23 different dates. The annual cost, to industry and the public, has been estimated at millions. The new federal legislation requires all areas observing daylight saving this year to start and end on the same dates—April 24 and October 30, the last Sundays. After next year, the entire nation will be on daylight saving between the last Sundays in the same two months except for those where the legislatures vote to exempt the entire state. No more local option.

Many Frenchmen Reflect Concern on DeGaulle Edict

Wonder How Country May Be Defended From Aerial Attack

PARIS (AP) — Many Frenchmen, reflecting on their president's decision to withdraw from the allied military structure, are wondering how their country might be defended from future aerial attack.

Jean Lecanuet, candidate against President Charles de Gaulle in last December's presidential contest, has raised the question in criticizing De Gaulle's plan to withdraw French troops from North Atlantic Treaty Organization command and to evict NATO forces from France.

"Blind as a Bat" Lecanuet claimed this will leave the French air force and the nation's antiaircraft defenses blind to any attack until the enemy's planes or missiles are over French territory. He said this would be true of De Gaulle's "force de frappe," the fledgling French nuclear deterrent.

As presently constituted, the force is a number of supersonic planes which can carry nuclear bombs. The range of these planes is extended through refueling from American-built tanker planes. France is at work on missiles which could carry nuclear tips, and the nation also plans eventually to have nuclear powered submarines which could carry Polaris-type missiles.

NATO sources support Lecanuet's view. "The French air defense will be as blind as a bat," said one official when asked what will happen when French troops are withdrawn from the integrated allied air defense system. The official was assuming that in such a case the radar shield no longer would be available to French air defenses.

The air defense screen, stretching from North Cape in Norway to eastern Turkey, is the only fully integrated operational element under Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, supreme allied commander. Land and naval, and other air forces, are integrated in the sense that they are pledged to allied command in the event of war.

The air defense screen includes an early warning radar screen, a fleet of several hundred fighters and fighter-bombers, and thousands of anti-aircraft missiles.

Bulk To Be Done Yet

As far back as six years ago, all 15 members of NATO, including France, agreed on a computerized processing system known as NADGE-NATO Air which would make the analysis of Defense Ground Environment—which would make the analysis of radar reports fully automatic and almost instantaneous.

Some minor work has been completed on the network, but the bulk has yet to be done. The total cost has been estimated at about $300 million.

Gen. Jean Accart resigned from the French air force to take on the NADGE assignment.

Mrs. Winthrop Dies, Was Chief Mail Censor

POTSDAM, N.Y. (AP) — Funeral services will be held Friday for Mrs. Ethel Patrick Winthrop, chief of the registered mail offices of censorship during World War II.

Mrs. Winthrop died Tuesday at Potsdam Hospital after a short illness. She was 51. Originally of Baltimore, she moved to this North Country community in 1950 when her husband, John, became financial adviser to the late Rep. Bertram H. Snell, a Republican. In addition to her husband, now chairman of the board of the Ogdensburg Trust Co., Mrs. Winthrop leaves four sons.

Siena Gets Grant

WASHINGTON (AP) — Siena College in Albany, N.Y., is the recipient of a $757,000 federal grant toward construction of a $1,958,000 science center. Rep. Leo W. O'Brien, D-N.Y., announced the Office of Education grant Wednesday.

as a NATO-employed civilian general manager. His status and duties presumably will not be affected by the French government's withdrawal.

Without the NATO warning system, and without future access to NADGE, France would have only two relatively minor radar stations in eastern France to give warning of attack. These radar can "see over" into West Germany, but no farther. Their equipment is owned by NATO.

Will Quit Hudson Post Prior to Court Sentencing

HUDSON, N.Y. (AP) — The treasurer of this Hudson River city pledges he will resign his post prior to his sentencing on a charge of petty larceny April 5.

He is Joseph Moy, who pleaded guilty Wednesday to the misdemeanor charge in Columbia County Court here in a case stemming from a state audit of city accounts.

Moy, city treasurer for 6 years, originally was indicted on a felony charge by a hold-over grand jury. The charge was reduced upon the recommendation of District Attorney John G. Connor.

Meanwhile, the jury returned 120 counts in the case against Albert Craft, a former clerk in the city treasurer's office. Craft faces court action May 2.

Only the Senate has the power to try impeachments.

Retreat Dates Are Announced For May 20-22

Harold W. O'Connor, local promoter for the Kingston Area Retreat Group, announced today that the retreat dates for 1966 have been set for the weekend of May 20th through 22.

This will be the 16th annual retreat for the local group, and reservations already received indicate that the attendance this year will top that of previous years.

The retreat offers relaxation and renewal of spiritual values and answers. The event will be held at the Jesuit Retreat House, Albany.

Ex-Utica Cop Gets 10-15 Attica Term

UTICA, N.Y. (AP)—The last of four former Utica policemen to be sentenced in a $5,631 payroll robbery is under a 10 to 15 year sentence in Attica State Prison.

Judge George R. Davis of Lowville, sitting in Oneida County Court, sentenced Craig Owen, 30, Wednesday in the robbery last July 30 of the Blackstone Construction Co. in nearby Washington Mills.

Owen and Peter A. Sebregandio, 24, were convicted March 9 on charges of first-degree robbery, first-degree grand larceny and second-degree assault.

Sebregandio was sentenced March 25 to an indeterminate term in Elmira Reformatory on the larceny charge, while sentencing on the other charges was suspended.

Two other former city policemen, James E. Callahan Jr. and Anthony Leo, are serving terms of 7 to 10 years in Attica. They pleaded guilty to reduced charges.

Though the British Labor party has been in power since October 1964, it has not held power since before 1951, the year Winston Churchill and the resurgent Conservatives regained control of the government.

Labor's extremely narrow win in 1964 was more an expression of voter weariness after 13 years of declining and lackluster Conservative leadership than a swing toward the left. Later by-elections that reduced Labor's already tiny margin in Parliament to just three seats were a further indication that Britain was still making up its mind about where it wanted to go in the last half of the 1960s.

This has all been changed. Labor's smashing victory in the recent elections is an enthusiastic five-year investment by the British people in the political bank of Labor. With a healthy parliamentary majority of 97, Prime Minister Wilson now has the working capital he needs to implement his party's "New Britain" platform of 1964.

What that new Britain will be like is pretty clearly evident—a tight little isle, exercising only a semblance of its former military and political influence in the world, but also a nation vigorously attempting to rejuvenate itself economically.

The one is much easier to accomplish than the other. It is much easier to chop the Royal Navy than the balance of payments deficit (though Wilson has done both), much easier to streamline the army than the bureaucracy and much easier to modernize the government than British industry.

Wilson now has a five-year mandate to work his changes—barring some unlikely catastrophe that could cause him to lose a vote of confidence in Parliament. Those five years will also see many changes in Europe, from which Britain still stands in not-so-splendid economic isolation.

If many fear that by 1970 France will be completely withdrawn from Europe's common defense, many also hope that by then Britain will have been drawn into the continent's common market.

The one depends upon Charles de Gaulle; the other very much on Harold Wilson.

EASTER CHICKS A MENACE

The American Humane Association has issued its usual admonition against giving children live animals — chicks, ducklings, rabbits and the like—for Easter. This year its statement on the subject has been given a new twist that makes the argument even more compelling.

A dozen states and quite a few cities already prohibit the so-called "Easter chick trade." The humane reasons for such a ban are as valid as ever. But now it is being pointed out that the traffic in baby animals, quite aside from the welfare of the animals, is a menace to human health. Chicks and ducklings may be carriers of the organism that causes a serious communicable disease known as salmonellosis. Thus, giving children small animals may expose the entire family to this disease. That is one more excellent reason, in addition to those usually cited, for passing up those downy little creatures when choosing Easter gifts.

Now U.S. troops in Vietnam number 230,000. The administration is against escalating the war, but doesn't mind edging it up a bit from time to time.

LET THE UFO'S CAVORT

A scientist has dismissed those unidentified objects reported in Michigan as being nothing more than luminous swamp gas. If Dr. J. Allen Hynek, a Northwestern University astrophysicist and Air Force consultant, is right, this is quite a letdown.

Happily Dr. Hynek cannot prove that his explanation is correct. And until there is proof a lot of people will continue to enjoy the notion that little green men or their equivalent are indeed flitting about the countryside in mysterious craft.

There have been sightings in New York State including the Hudson Valley. This Spring promises to be one of the best in the UFO line on record. Dr. Hynek is said to have checked on more than 100 sightings

LAND REFORM FOR LATIN AMERICA

MEXICO CITY — The land question is fundamental to reform and progress in many Latin American countries. Fidel Castro messed it up in Cuba when he seized all the land in the name of the state, an act that enslaved the Cuban campesino, or countryman, to a single political monopoly. The Mexicans have had a better way: when, in the Nineteen Thirties, they expropriated the more unproductive haciendas (farms), they went back to the ancient Aztec concept of the ejido (public land or a communal farm), parceling out small farms with lifetime guarantees to individual farmers. This solved the problem of hunger in Mexico.

But, as events turned out, it did not make for a very progressive agriculture. The individual plots in an ejido were too small to allow for modern methods of cultivation. Moreover, since a possessor of an ejido plot was forbidden to sell his acres in the free market, he could not mortgage it at a bank to get money for seed or fertilizer or a tractor or a new farm building. The practical result of this was to put much of Mexico on a subsistence farming basis. The soil was scratched as it had been in pre-Columbian times, yielding only enough corn for single families.

The disconcerting thing about this state of affairs is that everyone knows that something must be done about it, yet no Mexican politician who values his life dares to make a frontal assault on the ejido as an institution. However, since they are great pragmatists (an insight about supposed "revolutionary" Mexican politicians which this columnist owes to extensive talks with historian Daniel James), the leaders of the dominant Party of Revolutionary Institutions are now finding ways of transcending the limitations of the ejido without destroying it.

Back in the Nineteen Forties President Avila Camacho began to by-pass the ejido by permitting undistributed land to go to small rural private property holders. This brought some balance into Mexican agriculture without risking a return to the day when foreigners could own millions of largely unused acres. The creation of a rural middle class which knows something about the use of credit to finance better farming methods has done a lot to open the eyes of the Indians on the ejidos. They are now demanding credit, too.

So the Mexican State has set up a rather complicated rural banking system. There is the basic government Fondo del Agricultor. Then there is the Banco Agrícola, which lends money to some private farmers. Working with the Banco Agrícola, the Banco Nacional Agrario lends money to private banks to service farm credit needs. Finally, there is the Banco Ejidal, which takes the problem of the ejido by the horns. Though it is prohibited by the Mexican Constitution to take an ejido member's acres as security for a loan, the Banco Ejidal advances credit to the ejido Indians against future crops. An insurance system has been set up to guarantee the bank against crop losses. Finance Minister Antonio Ortiz Mena confidently expects the Banco Ejidal to increase production on the forty per cent of the ejidos that can count on water from permanent irrigation systems. As for the sixty per cent of ejido land that has only a spasmodic rainfall to keep it productive, the banking system has not yet found a way of making credit available in the absence of a sure water supply. But dry land can't feed much of Mexico anyway, so the absence of credit here does not visibly affect the nation's ability to fill its stomachs. When irrigation comes to dry land, it will automatically create its own credit base.

Whether the Mexican government owes its prospective "leap forward" in agriculture to the example provided by a supervised AID program by the World Bank is a matter for conjecture. But the U.S. has been putting up money for "productivity loans" at six per cent to ejido members who happen to have some private property on the side which can be pledged for the duration of the loan. The U.S. Ambassador, Fulton Freeman, puts a virtually evangelical passion into the business of helping the Mexicans solve their rural productivity problems. This should make him beloved of the Mexicans. It should also help provide an example for other countries in Latin America which are seeking a land reform that will not go to the disastrous extremes that have ruined Castro's Cuba. Cultivate Safe Habits In Working Your Garden

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Voltaire's Candide admonished his friend to cultivate his garden. Let me add a few details on how to do this with safety. If you are out of condition after a winter spent chiefly indoors, work into your gardening activities gradually.

Blisters can be minimized by wearing gloves but, if they occur, you must take steps to prevent infection. This will not happen so long as the blister is not broken. Since the blister was caused in the first place by friction, continued friction will not only aggravate the pain but will also increase the chance of its rupturing.

If the blister is small, cover it with an adhesive bandage. Don't open it with a needle because, even if you sterilize the needle, there is danger that it will carry germs from the skin surface into the blister. If the blister is large and likely to break or is already broken the best plan is to wash the skin with soap and water, scrub it with rubbing alcohol or other antiseptic and let it dry. Then cover it with a protective dressing. Treat it as an open wound with a protective dressing.

Because tetanus spores lurk in the soil you should be sure to get your tetanus booster before you start digging unless you have had a booster within the past 10 years. In any case, if you incur a deep wound that is contaminated with soil, you should get a booster regardless of the interval.

Avoid exhaustion and prevent accidents by storing all tools in a safe place when they are not in use. All pointed and sharp-edged tools, when laid down temporarily even for a few seconds, should have their points or edges turned down.

Finally, in your use of pesticides, familiarize yourself with the directions before you use them and keep them out of reach of children.

Q—My internist tells me I should have a fluoroscopic examination of my colon at least once a year to rule out cancer. I have had this done three times but it is so painful I wonder if there isn't an easier way to check up on my digestive tract.

A—Whenever there is any reason (age or symptoms) to suspect cancer, an annual checkup should be made. This would include fluoroscopy with a barium drink and a barium enema and a direct view with a proctoscope. These procedures are admittedly unpleasant but are decidedly worthwhile.

without finding anything of substance. Yet who can say that all the flying saucer reports can be attributed to epidemic hallucination?

Congress has shown no inclination to act on Rep. Gerald Ford's proposal that the rash of UFO sightings be investigated by a committee of lawmakers. Perhaps that is just as well. It's rather pleasant to have some mysterious goings-on to enliven things a bit. Too much investigation would spoil the fun.

WASHINGTON (NEA) —

What follows are excerpts from a memorandum now being circulated privately among the military planning staffs in the Pentagon. This analysis was written by an American officer in Viet Nam. It's causing considerable debate.

On 10 May, (1965) an estimated two main-force Viet Cong regiments attacked . . . (Song Be, the provincial capital of Phuoc Long Province).

"The Viet Cong suffered prohibitive casualties at the hands of a determined band of Vietnamese and American defenders. The kill-ratio was definitely in favor of the Allied forces.

"The Viet Cong failed to completely overrun the capital. However, events during the aftermath of the battle indicated that the outcome of the action was doubtful.

"Governmental officials began a mass exodus from Song Be, using all manner of pretexts to return to Saigon. Private citizens became wandering refugees. Effective government ceased to exist.

"In the next months, June and July, the process was repeated at the district towns of Don Xoai and Bu Dop.

"The pattern of crumbling of local government and creation of refugees was repeated at Dong Xoai. The Viet Cong, using surrounding rubber plantations as marshaling areas for the attack, were hit heavily by air strikes.

"In the process, the rubber plantations, the major means of livelihood for thousands of Vietnamese, were destroyed.

"Had the two opposing forces met on a conventional battlefield within the context of Western military doctrine framework, often called 'conventional warfare, no one could doubt that the outnumbered Vietnamese and Americans had won a clear-cut victory.

"Had the Viet Cong desired the critical terrain of these two areas as an objective, they most certainly failed.

"However, the Viet Cong obtained their objective, the disablement of government control and loss of its support by the population.

"The Viet Cong proved that the government was incapable of providing protection and security for the population in return for their support.

"The concept of a tactical success or victory must be reassessed. It is no longer possible to credit victory to the side which maintains control of critical terrain and . . . suffers the fewer casualties.

"Unlike the conflicts in which the American armed forces have participated in the past, the ob-

Poll Notes Dissatisfaction With Naming of U.S. Judges

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — The American people know very little about how judges are appointed but they do know when there is something wrong with the system. A Gallup Poll just published reveals that 61 per cent of the persons interviewed are in favor of letting the American Bar Association draw up a list of approved candidates and submit them to the President to take his pick. Certainly the poll revealed dissatisfaction with the present method by which judges are selected.

The American Bar Association Journal reports that, ever since the Cleveland administration, no President has made less than 82 per cent of judicial appointments from the ranks of his own party.

The record shows that President Roosevelt filled Federal district judgeships with 138 Democrats and two Republicans. For the court of appeals, he named 50 Democrats and four Republicans.

President Truman appointed 116 Democrats and nine Republicans to both district and appeals courts.

President Eisenhower appointed 165 Republicans and nine Democrats to the Federal bench. President Kennedy nominated 100 Democrats and eight Republicans.

President Johnson thus far has nominated 44 Democrats and two Republicans to be judges on district or appellate courts.

But the inference that a President of the United States is himself governed by political considerations is only partly true. Members of the Senate of the United States are really responsible for the political partisanship which has been manifested for many years. There are stories going around Washington about cases in which the two Senators from the opposite party in a state refused to approve a particular appointment the confirmation made and blocked the confirmation for two years.

There is no reason why Senators should, in effect, select Federal judges. In too many instances judgeships have been the reward for service rendered to a political party. The idea that the very best man with a background of judicial experience should be preferred in a district over someone who has never sat on the bench is not new.

Federal judges wield enormous power. The fact that a man is nominated for the bench who has been active in party politics might or might not be a factor in the kind of decisions he subsequently renders. But certainly eyebrows are arched and suspicions are generated when an active politician becomes a Federal judge, passes upon questions related to governmental policy and in certain cases, seems to side with the administration which brought about his appointment. Such inferences may not always be correct, but they persist.

The American people for many years have seemed to be indifferent to the way judges are appointed to the bench. Some of the appointees, it is true, rise above their previous political backgrounds and make fair and impartial judges. But even with the best of intentions, many of them do not do an adequate job for the simple reason that they have not had judicial experience.

It would seem logical if men who aspired to be Federal court judges would first serve on municipal or county courts or state supreme courts. But persons who want to become judges do not have to follow that route because the political habit of today is to pick for the Federal bench mostly men who have not had a single day's experience as judges.

The Gallup Poll has served a constructive purpose in bringing out the fact that the American people do not like the existing arrangement and that they favor upon the use of Federal judgeships as a political prize or as a reward for service to particular nominees in public office.

There are, moreover, some other objectionable phases of the present system of choosing judges. Many a Federal judge realizes that his own promotion to a higher court depends entirely on the Attorney General, who, of course, is the chief litigator in Federal courts. This situation has been denounced as fundamentally unsound by prominent lawyers, many of whom have expressed themselves in bar association meetings. They have declared that no judge should be placed in the position of either attempting to curry favor with the Attorney General or of being suspected of doing so.

Parents in New Appeal for Son

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The parents of a teen-ager kidnaped from his home 10 days ago say police and the FBI have agreed to step out of the picture if the kidnaper will return their son safely.

"We would indeed be foolish not to work with the real kidnaper in our own interest," said Aaron Goldman, a wealthy 47-year-old contractor. Goldman's 18-year-old son was forced to leave his home before dawn on March 28th by a

Man in News

Experts Flock To State's Top Addict Fighter

NEW YORK (AP) — Lawrence W. Pierce, top man in New York's war on narcotics had scores of narcotics experts at his desk within hours after taking office.

"I'm expecting a number of programs to fail in this massive job," says Pierce. "But this is the first time there will be any centralized effort to control the problem."

Named by Rocky

The handsome, prematurely bald Negro was appointed Wednesday as chairman of the Narcotic Addiction Control Commission by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

His assignment in the first year of the state's long-range attack at wiping out the narcotics problem is to hire the right people, find the right programs and build or contract for medical facilities where addicts can begin to kick the habit.

"Most of the effort certainly will be in New York City where most of the addicts are," says Pierce. "But we will study all cities in the state to see the extent of the problem there. We'll be in Albany, Buffalo, Yonkers and Nassau and Suffolk counties as soon as possible — not to investigate — but to study the potential dangers. Kids on goof balls today can easily go on to dope next week."

Pierce, 42, says studies will be made of summer resorts because "addicts are a gregarious group that might well like to congregate at such places."

For the most part the commission will depend on police, school officials and social agencies for information, says Pierce, who was director of the State Division of Youth and chairman of the State Council on Youth until his new appointment.

No New Hospitals

The new commission has $6-million appropriated for operating expenses and $75-million in capital construction money, for the current fiscal year.

Pierce says he will not build new hospitals for addicts but would use the construction money to renovate existing local facilities. He hopes to establish a complex of small treatment centers throughout the state.

Pierce said "The new narcotics laws, signed by the governor Wednesday, 'give us the opportunity to try out all sorts of programs.' For the first time we can zig and then zag, depending on the needs of the community. We expect failures, of course, but we'll find an answer to the narcotics problem. We won't eliminate it but we'll be able to curb it."

Pierce, who was born and raised in Philadelphia, lived in Brooklyn's teeming Bedford-Stuyvesant section from 1948 to 1963. During that time he went to Fordham Law School, worked three years for the Legal Aid Society, served seven years as an assistant district attorney and two years as deputy police commissioner. He moved to Canaan, a suburb of Albany, after Rockefeller named him director of the Division of Youth.

He and his wife have three children.

Westchester Delays Lifting Water Curbs

NEW YORK (AP) — Temporary postponement of a recommendation to lift all water conservation restrictions immediately has been agreed to by Westchester County officials.

The announcement came after a meeting Wednesday of New York City officials and the Water Conservation Committee of the Westchester Waterworks Conference.

Conference directors had voted Monday to recommend that communities lift the restrictions. The city of Yonkers immediately ordered a notice published to make the end of restrictions there official.

New York City has no plans to end restrictions and asked for Wednesday's meeting to discuss the situation.

Westchester County gets about 75 per cent of its water from the New York City system. The Westchester board said its action was not official and it would make no move to implement it until a meeting Friday to reconsider the vote.

The New York City Upstate water supply was at 72.1 per cent of capacity Wednesday, compared with 39.9 per cent on the same date a year ago. It still was well below the April 6 normal of 85.7 per cent.

Buffalo Man Killed

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—A 28-year-old motorist was injured fatally today when his station wagon struck a bridge abutment and then crashed into the window of a lumber company office on the city's east side.

Bogden Szczupak of Buffalo died in Emergency Hospital about three hours after the accident on Bailey Ave. He lived at 1323 Seneca St.

Gotham Banks Term City Tax Plan 'Excessive'

NEW YORK (AP) — The city's 10 largest banks say the income tax rate on banks proposed by Mayor John V. Lindsay is "economically excessive as well as illegal."

The banks sent letters Wednesday to Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, Lt. Gov. Malcolm Wilson, presiding officer of the State Senate, and members of the Legislature and the City Council.

Ask Lower Rate

The letters proposed that the banks be taxed on income at the rate of 2 1/2 per cent, instead of the 4 1/2 per cent rate proposed by Lindsay.

Other business would be taxed at 5 1/2 per cent under Lindsay's tax program.

Murray Drabkin, Lindsay's chief fiscal adviser, had this comment on the banks' letters:

"I fail to understand the magic by which a tax based on 5 1/2 per cent of net income is fair for every other business in the community but suddenly becomes 'economically excessive' when it is applied at a 4 1/2 per cent rate to banks."

Banks Exempt

Under federal law, banks are exempt from the city's present tax on gross receipts of businesses. Lindsay's program calls for a new corporate income tax to replace the gross receipts tax.

The 10 banks denied Lindsay's charge of Tuesday that for years the banks have not contributed to the city's tax revenue. They said that "commercial banks are already contributing substantial amounts" to city revenues in real estate, commercial occupancy and sales taxes.

The difference in the rates proposed by Lindsay for an income tax on banks and on other businesses involves the fact that banks are not allowed by New York State law to allocate parts of their net income to other states in which they do business. Nonbanking businesses are allowed to do this.

The Federal law which exempts banks from the present gross receipts tax does not exempt them from a net income tax.

College Music Teachers Hit Naming of Willson

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Seventy college music teachers have written President Johnson that Meredith Willson, the "Music Man" composer, is not qualified to be on the National Council of Humanities. They also urged Willson to resign.

They said they were shocked and disappointed over the selection of Willson as the only musician on the council, established under the Arts and Humanities Act last year. President Johnson appointed its 26 members in January.

The professors, in a letter to and released Wednesday by Prof. Arthur Mendel of Princeton University, said Willson's accomplishments were limited. He is best known for composing "Music Man," a long-running Broadway musical which was made into a motion picture.

"These things are enterprises designed to make money, do not need government support, and are unrelated to the purposes of the act," the letter said.

The purpose of the act was to give evidence of the "nation's high quality as a leader in the realm of ideas and of the spirit," Congress declared when it was adopted.

Record Borrowing
ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—State Comptroller Arthur Levitt reports that the sale of $650 million in tax-anticipation notes was the largest single borrowing ever undertaken by the state.
Levitt added Wednesday that, to his knowledge, it also was the largest undertaken by any state.
He sold the notes Tuesday to 41 banks across the state and 15 securities dealers in New York City. The notes carry an annual interest of 3 1/4 per cent and are due on March 31, 1967.
The comptroller issued the notes at the outset of the state's fiscal year, which began last Friday, so that the state could meet its obligations while revenues began to arrive.
Among other things, the state must make a $637-million payment in aid for education this month.

Along Capitol Corridors

By CHARLES DUMAS

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Assembly Speaker Anthony J. Travia is spending much of the Legislature's 17-day recess pondering the most critical decision of his political career.

The 55-year-old Brooklyn Democrat is trying to decide whether he should give up his coveted leadership post in the Legislature to become a federal court judge.

Denies Any Decision

In recent weeks there have been a series of reports that Travia has agreed to accept appointment by President Johnson to the U.S. District Court bench.

Both publicly and privately Travia has denied having made any decision. As a prospective appointee, the protocol in such cases forbids him from saying much more.

But he has discussed the situation with persons close to him. These are the facts, as they report them:

Travia's name was recommended to the White House by Assemblyman Stanley Steingut, the Democratic party leader in Brooklyn. Steingut contested unsuccessfully with Travia for the Assembly speaker's job a year ago and would like to have him out of the way so he could try again.

Endorsed by Kennedy

Steingut's recommendation was endorsed by U.S. Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, whose influence with the White House these days isn't what it used to be. Nevertheless, federal court appointments usually are cleared with U.S. senators of the political party involved.

More important, the nomination also was endorsed by Edward Weiss, the Democratic national committeeman from New York. Weiss is said to be President Johnson's personal political representative in this state.

Thus it appears that Travia could have the court appointment for the asking. He has indicated definite interest, but he insists that he has not given a final yes or no.

Influencing Factors

There are three factors influencing his decision:

— The court seat, in Brooklyn, had been held by Matthew T. Abruzzo, who retired recently. Travia once had served as Abruzzo's law clerk, and he is moved by the sentimental aspect of ascending to the lofty judicial post once held by his old boss.

— The federal judgeship is a lifetime appointment, bearing great prestige in the legal profession and the security of a $30,000-a-year salary.

— By contrast, Travia has to run for the Assembly every two years. He would lose the $27,500-a-year speaker's job if his party lost majority control of the Assembly, or he could be toppled from the post one day by a Democratic rival.

As a federal judge, he would be freed from the grind of political campaigning and from the time-consuming demands of the hectic speaker's job. This would permit him to spend more time with his family in Brooklyn.

The last consideration seems to be weighing most heavily with Travia. His wife, Rita, a soft-spoken and pretty brunette, has urged him to escape from the wear and tear of politics, and he is an especially attentive husband.

At the same time, Travia obviously relishes his role as the Legislature's foremost Democrat. He struggled for years to reach that pinnacle and has told friends that he is having the time of his life. He is reluctant to retire to the relatively sedate life of a judge.

While wrestling with these conflicting emotions, Travia has given the go-ahead signal to circulate the nominating petitions for his Assembly re-election campaign — just in case.

If he decides to go to the bench, it is unlikely that he would make his decision known before the 1966 Legislature adjourns, probably in May.

Otherwise, he would be a "lame-duck" speaker, and his power to keep his troops in line would slip rapidly away.

Air Force Has Openings Now

The United States Air Force is now authorized to hold a space open on the Aerospace Team for young men of draft age who wish to enlist in the U.S. Air Force prior to their graduation from high school. It was announced by Sergeant Dave D. Pauly Air Force recruiter.

Each year the U.S. Air Force Recruiting Service experiences a large influx of volunteers immediately following graduation from high school. Many young men entering the Air Force must wait for quotas to become available so that they can go on active duty. The Aerospace Team's "Delayed Enlistment Program" allows graduates to plan well in advance on leaving for active duty on a specific date.

The Air Force's "Delayed Enlistment Program" is designed for young men who are seniors in high school, and for men who, for one reason or another do not wish to leave immediately for active duty in the Air Force. They may now wait for a period of 120 days or less, and still be assured, if qualified, an opening in the aptitude area of their choice on a specific date.

Aerospace minded young men who desire additional information on the Air Force's "Delayed Enlistment Program" should contact Sergeant Pauly 597 Broadway, Kingston.

Only a handful of states, nine at present, still holds out against the apparently irresistible trend toward the sales tax to meet skyrocketing government expenditures. Latest to adopt levies were Massachusetts, effective April 1, and Virginia, effective Sept. 1. New Jersey, still among the holdouts, has a tax under serious consideration. Last year, sales taxes brought in an estimated $7 billion, approximately 25 per cent of all state revenues. Figure gives percentage of tax for each state.

Group Is Hopeful On Efforts to Protect Prisoners

WASHINGTON (AP) — A small group of southern New Jersey lawyers expressed optimism today on its efforts to protect the legal rights of the more than 60 Americans taken prisoner by the North Vietnamese.

Patrick T. McGahn Jr., an Atlantic City lawyer who founded and heads the Society for the Defense of American Prisoners in North Vietnam, said its proposal was being forwarded to Ho Chi Minh, president of North Vietnam.

Forwarded to Hanoi

"After many weeks of waiting," McGahn said in an interview, "we have just received word that our proposal has been forwarded to Viet Nam through the embassy of the United Arab Republic.

"We have been trying to get through, and at times things looked quite black, but it appears now we are making some headway."

The UAR Embassy in Washington notified the society Wednesday it was forwarding the group's plea to Hanoi in order to send it to North Viet Nam through diplomatic channels.

McGahn's proposal to Ho Chi Minh asks for permission to allow the society to visit Hanoi to discuss the terms of the 1949 Geneva Convention regarding prisoners held by a detaining power.

"We hope that we might be afforded the opportunity to visit American prisoners who are being detained by your government," the proposal asserts.

"I'll be satisfied if they will tell me there is no need to go because they intend to abide by the Geneva Convention," McGahn said. He was in Washington the past few days working on his project.

"But only recently, Nguyen Xuan, the North Viet Nam ambassador to Egypt, said in Cairo Americans will be treated like criminals," he said. "If that's going to happen I think they're entitled to be properly represented. I'd hate to see 60 coffins come back to the United States simply because no one offered to help them."

While the U.S. government can't officially sanction the McGahn effort, it is taking unofficial cognizance of the team and provided the society with State Department transcripts which might be helpful. The Logan Act prohibits negotiations with foreign powers by private U.S. citizens.

The society consists of McGahn, 38, a former Marine captain who served in Korea, and three other attorneys, three businessmen and two investigators, including a former FBI agent.

Some 60 American fliers — 34 Air Force and 26 Navy — are believed to be held by the North Vietnamese. Another 46 — 30 Air Force and 16 Navy — are listed as missing but presumed to be alive.

Solon Predicts

proved it would provide immediate protection.

John S. Bugas, vice president of the Ford Motor Co., urged Tuesday in testifying for the industry that it be given a chance to show what it could do before any federal standards are imposed. He assured the committee that the auto makers had gotten "the safety message."

As part of a voluntary industry program, Bugas appealed for legislation granting immunity from antitrust prosecution to the manufacturers for sharing information and developments in the safety field.

Says Idea Lacks Merit

But the head of the Justice Department's Antitrust Division, Asst. Atty. Gen. Donald F. Turner, said in a letter to Magnuson Wednesday that the general argument advanced for this lacks merit.

He noted also that Bugas, in expressing the industry's concern about antitrust action if it engaged in joint safety efforts, had testified it is now under antitrust investigation with respect to exhaust emission devices.

Turner said the charges being investigated by the antitrust division are "of cooperative efforts to suppress, not to promote, the utilization of auto emission devices."

He added this was "a possible type of abuse which hardly strengthens the case for a grant of antitrust immunity."

Witnesses at the Senate committee's windup hearing who called for mandatory federal safety standards included a spokesman for the American Automobile Association and James R. Hoffa, president of the teamsters union.

Other witnesses urged the legislation make specific provision for federal grants to the states for the development and testing prototype safety cars. New York already has a project of this kind under way.

Note Mystery Of Soviet Jet Crash in Berlin

BERLIN (AP) — Thousands of West Berliners flocked today to the site in the Havel River where a Soviet military jet crashed. There was still a mystery as to what happened to the crew.

The Russians said the two-man crew perished when the plane crashed Wednesday afternoon. A British spokesman at the scene in the British sector reported divers had found no bodies.

Officials at Site

More than a dozen uniformed Russian officers and enlisted men were at the site. The Russians protested to British authorities they did not want their pictures taken. British military police held their hands in front of camera lenses and said, "sorry, acting on orders."

The official Soviet news agency Tass reported earlier that the pilot, Capt. Boris Kapustin, and his navigator, Lt. Yuri Yanov, gave their lives to insure that the plane went down in an uninhabited spot.

Later, the East German news agency ADN said that Tass had requested that ADN withdraw its version of the Tass story. Still later, Tass advised ADN to release the story. No reason was given for the change on signals.

In its dispatch, Tass said: "Noteworthy is the strange behavior of the western occupation authorities in West Berlin who did not let representatives of Soviet armed forces go to the place of the accident and pay last honors to the dead servicemen."

Held to Riverbank

About 10 Russian officers and five enlisted men were at the scene, but the British restricted them to the riverbank. A British spokesman said the plane "eventually will be returned to the Russians."

Informed sources said that the Russians had not pressed to be included in the salvage operation but had asked to guard the plane during the night and were turned down.

A British officer confirmed that a busload of Russian troops arrived at the scene Wednesday but did not leave their vehicle and returned to East Berlin.

The early Tass report did not identify the type of plane. Some western experts guessed that it was a MIG 17 but the British spokesman said definitely identification cannot be made until the craft is raised.

Termed as Heavy

The spokesman said the plane was "fairly heavy — 10 or 12 tons." British and German were reported having some difficulty in getting cables around it, down in about 13 feet of water.

The plane came in over a nearby bridge and a heavily traveled highway to land in the water very close to a shore lined with homes.

About 240 million telephone conversations are held every day in the United States according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Broadcaster's Kin Killed in Viet Nam

WALTON, N. Y. (AP)—Michael R. Cuneen, the son of a committee member of the National Association of Broadcasters, has been killed in action in Viet Nam.

Cuneen, 20, a member of the Third Marine Battalion, was killed Monday when a recoilless rifle misfired as he was operating an anti-tank vehicle, a family spokesman said today.

Cuneen's father, Michael J. Cuneen, has been general manager of Radio Station WDLA here since 1953. He is a member of the Code Committee of the National Association of Broadcasters. He formerly was

Hair Too Long, Is Barred From France

LONDON (AP)—A 20-year-old British student complained today he was barred from France because his hair was too long. Robert Reif of Edinburgh University said he arrived by ship in Calais Wednesday on his way to a training camp in Dijon for a voluntary youth organization similar to the Peace Corps.

Reid said an official at the passport office "pointed out that my hair was a bit on the long side."

East's Discards Aids Strategy

By JACOBY & SON
1965 Vanderbilt Cup Winners
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
One of the most interesting hands in Dorothy Hayden's new book illustrates the great value of giving your partner a count by means of a high low discard to show that you started with an even number of cards in some suit.

South gets to six no-trump after opening the bidding with an artificial forcing two club bid. If West opens any suit but spades South will simply concede a trick to the ace of hearts and make his contract without any trouble but West opens the nine of spades and South sees that he will never be able to bring home dummy's six card heart suit.

He wins the first trick in dummy and takes a club finesse. Then he knocks out East's ace of hearts. East plays a second spade and South is in dummy for the last time. He takes a second club finesse but still must lose a trick to West's jack of diamonds provided West knows enough to guard that card instead of his ten of clubs. In most games there would be an excellent chance for West to go wrong. South would cash his queen and jack of hearts and West would have to make two discards. He could throw a spade and a diamond with no worries but then South would cash his third spade and West would be in trouble. He would probably guess right and throw a club but the count signal would give him a sure thing play.

East should play the four of clubs on the first lead of the suit and the deuce of clubs next. This play would show an even number of clubs. West would know that East had started with either two or four. If two South would have started with five clubs to the top four honors and West's clubs would have no value.

Albany Proposal

Supreme Court To Hear Request On Annexation

Supreme Court Justice Harry E. Schirick, scheduled to preside at Part II of the April term of Supreme Court in Ulster County, has been assigned by the Appellate Division in Albany to hear a dispute over a proposed annexation of an area adjacent to Albany into the Albany corporate line.

Justice Schirick is one of three Supreme Court justices assigned to hear testimony in the dispute, the first test case under a new annexation procedure enacted by the 1964 legislature. The other justices are Michael E. Sweeney of Saratoga Springs, presiding justice; Harold E. Simpson, Ithaca.

Tuesday the three justices viewed the area prior to the taking of testimony. The area affected includes the Upper Whitehall Road, New Scotland area south of Albany city line to the Normanskill Creek and including the Albany Municipal Golf course, Mater Christi Seminary, and Maryrose School and a number of homes.

It is expected 40 witnesses will be called by the city beginning today. The city's case will take an estimated six days and could go longer depending on cross examination. Witnesses for the town will take another three days or longer.

The annexation was instituted by petition of residents in the affected area. The Albany Common Council approved the plan but the Bethlehem Town Board disapproved the annexation. Sessions will be held Monday through Thursday until completion of the testimony.

At the conclusion of the testimony the three-member panel will report to the Appellate Division. If the tribunal approves a referendum of those in the area only is required as the final step. This will be the first test under a new annexation procedure.

Knowing The Words of Song Is Important to Air Force

By THOMAS A. REEDY
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The man's phone rang at 1:30 a. m., and a voice said: "Sorry, sir, but I'm losin' face fast. I can't remember the fourth line of the Air Force song."

The man hummed and hummed and then he hawed.

Can't Remember

"I can't either," he confessed. "But wait a minute."

He got out of bed, hurried downstairs and got his hi-fi set going. The disc was the Air Force song. It was instrumental, no lyrics. He returned to the telephone.

"I've lost face too," he said. "I'm sorry."

The next morning an order went out from Taff Son Nhut headquarters of the 2nd Air Division:

Lyrics of the song were to be made available to Air Force outfits in Southeast Asia without further delay.

Order Comes Down

The order came from Lt. Gen. Joseph H. Moore.

He was keeping faith with a captain, a forward air controller, who appealed to the top.

That captain had directed air strikes which enabled Vietnamese troops in the delta to rack up a pretty good victory. At the celebration the captain fogged out on the fourth line of the "Off we go" song.

When the general was asked about the incident, a little later, he made it clear that he now knows the fourth line:

Illustrates Outlook

The incident and the line itself illustrate Moore's outlook. He cares about a pilot, being a pretty good one himself.

Moore commands 29,000 men, 500 attack planes, and sits on more secrets than most men.

He knows what the U.S. Air Force is doing in Thailand, what might be the situation on the Ho Chi Minh trail in Cambodia, and Laos.

Just as he concerned himself about the singing pilot, Moore sallies forth as often as he can to bases and sits around with the fliers. His return to base usually brings a steam of ideas, orders, suggestions, criticisms or compliments as the case may be.

Jutting Jaw Signal

Lots of men are called square-jawed. Moore really is. His staff watches that jaw. If it starts jutting out a little more, duck.

But few have ever heard Joe Moore raise his voice.

"He doesn't have to," said Janie Coffman of Council Bluffs, Iowa, his secretary. "You know what he means."

Moore is presiding over the escalation of the air war in an arrangement complicated enough to give an ulcer. B52 bombers from Guam sashay into South Viet Nam almost daily. The orders come from the Joint Chiefs of Staff in Washington. The targets are selected here. Moore can stop a flight if something goes wrong but he cannot order one.

The 7th Fleet pours its weight into both Viet Nam and control lies with the Navy in Hawaii. Still, Moore has to integrate the missions with his own Air Force to get maximum performance.

Has Close Contact

Moore deals almost hourly with Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. forces in Viet Nam. They played high school football together in Spartanburg, S.C. and are just the same age — 51 so they needed little introduction.

Moore sees the assignment in Viet Nam as "several kinds of war."

There is the need to support troops, to bomb targets, to transport men, to protect bases, to choke off the enemy's supply lines.

"The biggest problem is finding the targets," he says.

He means the elusive Viet Cong.

Can Pinpoint Cong

Intelligence can pinpoint the Viet Cong at times but the Air Force then has to consider whether a strike may clobber innocent Vietnamese and their property.

Technology is brought to bear against Viet Cong hideouts. The Air Force is using infrared "starlight" devices and scopes that pierce whatever disguise the enemy tries to adopt.

Some of the technology still is under the table but the Viet Cong know by now they are being sought out by some remarkable means.

Several hundred planes have gone down over North Viet Nam, almost as many over the South in the past year. Moore insists on knowing about each one, what happened, what went wrong.

That's why he answered that phone call at 1:30 a.m., only to find out he didn't know the fourth line of the Air Force song.

NEW PALTZ NEWS

Rollins Named
Boys Stater of Legion Post 175

NEW PALTZ—John Rollins, a junior at New Paltz Central School, has been selected by the administration and faculty of the school to represent Sullivan-Shafter Post No. 175 to the annual American Legion Empire Boys State, which will be held from June 26 to July 2 at the State University of New York Agricultural and Technical College, Morrisville.

Rollins has been active in student government as freshman class representative to the Student Council, sophomore class secretary-treasurer and junior class president. He has also participated in jayvee basketball, cross-country and track.

Youth Forum Is Attended by Four
From Area School

Albert Flore took four seniors, Barbara Abrams, Marcia Binninger, Sue Dodge, and Eric Faulner to Lincoln Center to attend the Herald Tribune Youth Forum recently.

Specially selected students from 31 countries attended this 20th annual forum.

There were eight delegates on the first panel, and they discussed how the world had changed since their parents' generation was young. A very important point that was brought up was alienation.

Between the first and second panel discussion there was a musical interlude. Several of the delegates performed songs and dances of their native country.

The last part of the program was the second panel discussion. The delegates spoke of the fu-

Local Students
Are on Tour in Puerto Rico Area

On Friday, April 1, 14 students and four chaperones left New Paltz for a trip to Puerto Rico which is to last for 11 days. They left Kennedy International Airport on Trans-Caribbean Airlines and arrived at San Juan that evening.

The trip will include a tour of old and new San Juan, with a possible meeting of the Governor of Puerto Rico, and excursion to the famous El Yunque Rain Forest, and a side trip to the Virgin Islands. The students will also visit some agricultural industries such as coffee and sugar cane plantations.

The trip is a direct result of the interest shown by members of Anthropology Enrichment Course held at the New Paltz High School, and though the trip is not restricted, it is composed largely of the members of the class.

The students making the trip are: Barbara Abrams, Christine Bailey, Marlene Bank, Karen Barr, John Deyo, Sidney DuBois, Raymond Garcia, Ann Moran, Marshall O'Neil, Judy Pallus, Jacqueline Stone, Donna Traver and George Williams, all seniors of the New Paltz High School and Linda Cohen, a sophomore from the Pine Bush Central School.

The adults taking the trip are: Albert Flore, teacher of sociology, economics and anthropology classes; Mrs. Ella Moore, teacher of freshman history, and Mr. and Mrs. John L. Wyman, Wyman is the principal of the New Paltz High School.

ture and the part they hoped their country would be playing in world affairs. They discussed the war in Viet Nam and the possibility of an African Block vs. The Communist Block and the Democratic Block.

Cases Are Heard
In City Court

A charge dealing with lack of license to operate a billiard room against one defendant was dismissed in city court today and another waived examination on a second degree grand larceny charge.

The charge dismissed on consent and motion of Assistant District Attorney James H. Fisher had been lodged several weeks ago against Anthony Gentile, 66, of 85 Quarry Street. Sufficient proof was submitted today to void the charge.

Barry Paradies, 16, of 194 Wall Street, booked recently on the grand larceny charge, waived examination for grand jury hearing. Police charged him with theft of a car owned by John Senkowitz, of 6 Rogers Street, which had been taken from Van Buren Street. Anthony Harry Goli, assigned by the court, appeared with Paradies today.

Counter charges of assault were lodged today by Jack Randolph Lewis, 21, and Carolee Aiston, 25, of 179 Wall Street. Police said the charge against the man dates back to March and he later lodged the charge against her. She is due in court Monday. Hearing of the charge against Lewis, who was represented by Attorney William Curran, was put over to May 3.

Funeral services will be held Saturday 2 p. m. at the Seamon Funeral Home Inc., John and Lafayette Streets, Saugerties, with the Rev. Orville J. Hine, pastor of the Saugerties Reformed Church officiating. Burial will be in Mt. View Cemetery. There will be no calling hours.

Will Establish Closed-Video in Area Schools

WASHINGTON (AP)—An educational closed-circuit television project will be established in nine school districts in Delaware and Scholastic counties, N.Y., with a $354,850 federal grant.

Rep. John G. Dow, D-N.Y., said today in announcing the grant that the project might be used as a model for rural areas throughout the nation.

Programs will be designed for adult education courses as well as for the regular school curriculum.

Participating school districts will be Andes, Roxbury, Stamford, South Kortright, Margaretville, Fleischmanns, and Grand Gorge, all in Delaware County, and Jefferson and Gilboa in Schoharie.

LSD Girl Better

NEW YORK (AP)—A 5-year-old Brooklyn girl who swallowed a sugar cube saturated with the hallucinatory drug LSD and suffered convulsions appeared to be out of physical danger today.

However, a spokesman at Kings County Hospital said Donna Wingenroth remained on the critical list for observation to learn whether the drug will cause the child permanent mental damage.

Doctors pumped her stomach Wednesday and treated her for convulsions after she removed the cube from a refrigerator and ate it.

Closing at Noon

City Hall offices are due to close tomorrow at noon in observance of Good Friday.

Names in The News

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

New Miss Teen

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A Swedish girl who wants to be an actress reigns today as Miss Teen International.

Eva Aulin, 16, a Stockholm model and part-time movie and television actress, won the title Wednesday night in the Miss Teen International Pageant.

Contestants from 11 nations took part.

The U.S. entry, Cinda Lewis, 16, of Santa Barbara, Calif., was second.

Drop Girl From Title

DETROIT (AP)—Can a "Kelly girl" be a boy?

Certainly, and the firm of Kelly Girl Service, Inc. is changing its name because of it. The firm supplies part-time workers to businesses.

Stockholders gave their approval in Detroit Wednesday to dropping the "girl" from the title.

2,000 Miles to Teach

NEW YORK (AP)—Dr. Richard P. McKeon, a University of Chicago professor, beginning next fall, will commute 2,000 miles every week between Chicago and New York.

The New School for Social Research said Wednesday that McKeon will teach seminars in New York two consecutive days each week.

His plane fare, about $180 round trip, will cost the school $5,400 in the 1966-67 academic year.

McKeon is a philosopher.

Maureen Denies Marriage

NEW YORK (AP)—Actress Maureen O'Sullivan says she is not married to a French rabbinical student who is 32 years younger than she is.

A newspaper columnist in New York reported Wednesday that Miss O'Sullivan, 55, had married Henri Sobell, 23. Said Sobell: "It's ridiculous and phony. I've known her for a very short time and have seen her only a few times."

Miss O'Sullivan is the mother of seven children. The oldest is 22.

Court to Decide Genovese Listing From Known List

NEW YORK (AP)—A State Supreme Court justice has ordered a trial to determine whether the Police Department has the right to keep the name of Michael Genovese on its list of known gamblers.

Justice Charles Marks acted Wednesday in a suit brought by Genovese, younger brother of Vito Genovese, reputed Cosa Nostra chieftain who is serving a 15-year term in federal prison for narcotics violations.

Marks said he could not determine the issue on the basis of legal papers submitted by the 59-year-old Michael Genovese and by lawyers for the city.

Genovese contends that his name is on the "known gambler" list although he never has been arrested on a gambling charge or convicted of any crime. The suit also asserts he does not associate with gamblers.

Police contend that Genovese was connected with a money-lending corporation and that a former wife of Vito Genovese had testified in a divorce action in Monmouth County, N.J., in 1952 that Vito operated an Italian lottery and paid his brother $500 a week for delivering money to him.

Justice Marks said the trial would determine whether police characterization of Michael Genovese as a known gambler was a reasonable exercise of statutory authority.

GOP Dinner June 9

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The Republican State Committee's annual $100-a-plate dinner now is set for June 9 instead of the previously planned May 25.

GOP Chairman Carl Spad said Wednesday the date was changed because May 25 is a Jewish religious holiday.

The dinner will be held at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel in New York City, with Gov. Rockefeller as the main speaker.

matter of fact

The Kremlin was the central fortress in medieval Russian cities. It was usually situated on the high bank of a river or in the angle formed by the confluence of two rivers. Inside were located the cathedral, palaces for the bishop and prince, government-office buildings and stores for ammunition and provisions in case of siege. Several important cities such as Moscow, Smolensk and Novgorod were built around old kremlins.

Albany Man, 80, Succumbs to Burns

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—An 80-year-old man, who was carried from his flaming home Wednesday by a passer-by, is dead of burns.

He was Jacob Troxler, who was carried from the fire by Robert Slover, 36, of Albany. Troxler died Wednesday at Albany Medical Center Hospital, where his wife was a heart patient.

Officials said the fire, which was confined to the first floor of the two-story frame structure, apparently started in a room where Troxler was sleeping.

Slover, who was treated for smoke inhalation at the hospital and discharged, said he saw flames coming through the windows and entered the house through a rear door.

RFK Against Javits

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democratic Sen. Robert F. Kennedy of New York is among those who voted down a Senate resolution sponsored by his Republican colleague, Sen. Jacob K. Javits.

Javits' resolution, defeated 42-32 Wednesday, was to reject President Johnson's reorganization plan transferring the Community Relations Service from the Commerce Department to the Justice Department.

The Javits opposed aligning the service with law-enforcement agencies.

$7,542,750 Awarded For SUNY Additions

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Contracts totaling $7,542,750 have been awarded for construction of three dormitories and two dining halls at two units of the State University, it was announced today.

The State Dormitory Authority made these awards:

—A $4,537,000 contract to the Walter S. Johnson Building Co. and Wright and Kremers Inc., both of Niagara Falls, to build a 648-bed dormitory and a 500-seat dining hall at the College at Brockport.

—A $3,005,750 contract to Roger & McCay Inc. of New York City for two 214-bed dormitories and a 40-seat dining hall at the Agricultural and Technical College at Morrisville.

The facilities are to be completed in time for the fall semester in 1967.

Backs Billboard Need To Direct Travelers

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The head of an Adirondacks' tourist resort says that a proposed federal Highway Beautification Act ignores man-made attractions "of far greater interest" than natural or historical ones.

Arthur L. Bensen, president of Frontier Town in North Hudson, suggested that the measure be changed to allow commercial signs and notices of "sufficient interest to the traveling public."

Bensen, in a written statement Wednesday to U.S. Commerce Department officials conducting a hearing here on the measure, noted that man-made attractions provide jobs and stimulate local economies.

The highway law, which would control outdoor advertising, has drawn fire from advertisers across the state.

Just in Case

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—Timothy Jay Radwicz wrote a local Marine Corps recruiter asking that his name be put on the Corps' enlistment list now "so the Army and Navy won't get me."

Sgt. Walter Cramer visited Timmy, gave him a card certifying him as an honorary recruiter and told Timmy he would have to wait a while. Timmy is 7 years old.

His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Arnold J. Radwicz of 325 Cranwood Ave.

Jaycees to Hold Egg Hunt 17th, Hasbrouck Park

The annual Easter Egg Hunt sponsored by the Kingston Jaycees will be held Sunday, April 17 at Hasbrouck Park. The hunt is scheduled to begin at 2:30 p. m.

A total of 2,000 chocolate creme eggs will be hidden for youngsters in each of three age brackets. Special awards will be given in each group to youngsters finding "prize" eggs.

The age brackets established for this year's hunt are the following: under 6, ages 6-8 and ages 9-12 years old.

Chairman of this year's hunt is Grady Montgomery.

Rain date for the event will be Sunday, April 24.

Accused in Circus Clown's Murder Requests Transfer

NEW YORK (AP) — One of two men accused of murdering famed circus clown Paul Jung last year has asked to have his case transferred to federal court under the Civil Rights Act.

Allen Jones argued Wednesday through his attorney, John Iannuzzi, that his constitutional rights had been violated by the refusal of the Manhattan district attorney's office to reveal some information concerning the murder.

This was being done, the attorney contended, because Jones is a Negro.

Jones and Marion DeBerry are charged with murdering Jung in a midtown hotel one year ago during a robbery. The murder occurred while the Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey Circus, which opened its 1966 engagement here this week, was playing its 1965 New York season.

Bill Would Regulate Process Server Abuse

NEW YORK (AP) — State Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz said today he will recommend to the Legislature four bills to deal with what he called "shocking abuses in the service of process."

He said investigation by his office has shown "an alarming number of cases" where legal action has proceeded in court although the legal process had not been served prior to the entry of judgment.

"It is appalling to find that in many cases no personal service of the parties ever has been made as alleged by process servers," Lefkowitz said.

One of his bills would provide that the secretary of state license all process servers and periodically check to determine if they were complying with the requirements of the law.

The other three bills are aimed at alleviating situations resulting from the abuse of service, Lefkowitz said. One would increase the period of required notice of eviction in landlord-tenant proceedings from 24 to 72 hours.

Traffic Club Will Dine on April 12

The monthly dinner meeting of the Mid-Hudson Traffic Club will be held April 12 at Spruce Lodge, Route 17K, Newburgh.

This meeting has been designated as "Motor Carrier Night." Both local and nationally known motor carriers support this event.

Social and get-together hour will start at 6:30 p. m. with dinner at 7:30 p. m.

The speaker will be William J. Barton, secretary, Standing Rate Committee of the Middle Atlantic Conference, Washington, D. C., whose topic will be Middle Atlantic Conference, Its Services and Procedures.

Mr. Barton is a native of Rome, a graduate of George Washington University, and a practitioner before the I.C.C.

Teeners Face Jury On Dutchess Charge

Two Poughkeepsie teenagers await Dutchess County Grand Jury action following their arrest on third degree burglary charges early today at Clinton Corners in that county.

State Police at the Rhinebeck-Hyde Park substation arrested Larry Barton, 18, and Walter Labodin, 16, both of Poughkeepsie, who they said were caught in the act of breaking into the Clinton Corners Service Station on the Taconic Parkway about 1:45 this morning.

The youths appeared before Peace Justice William Tomkins, who ordered them held for grand jury action.

Troopers Edward Streider and W. Pearson investigated along with Investigator R. Spreen of the Bureau of Criminal Investigation.

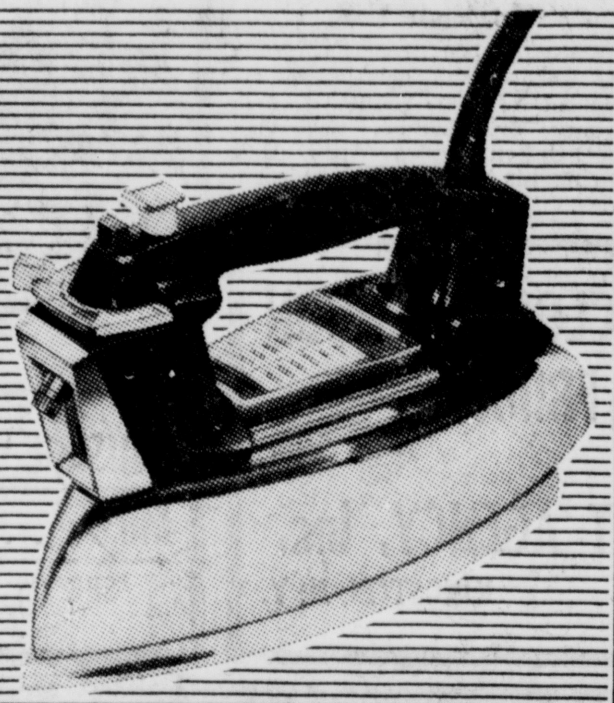

Teacher Faces Jury On Morals Charge

A Dutchess County school teacher faces grand jury action in that county as a result of his arrest Wednesday night on a morals charge.

State Police at the Fishkill substation arrested William Henshaw, 53, of 435 Pamelas Road, Hopewell Junction, a teacher in the Hyde Park School District. Unable to post $100 bail, Henshaw was committed to the county jail. Police said that the case involves a 10-year-old girl.

Trooper George H. Baker investigated.

FBI Is Probing Wall St. Theft

NEW YORK (AP) — The FBI is investigating the theft of stocks valued at $500,000 reported missing from the Wall Street brokerage house of Thomson & McKinnon.

The firm said Wednesday that it had "recently discovered that certain securities had been stolen from its main office in New York City."

The announcement by John J. Maloney, managing director of the firm, said "Thomson & McKinnon is fully covered by insurance and neither the firm nor any customer will suffer financial loss of any kind."

The firm set no loss figure but an FBI spokesman said "at this time we are carrying it as $500,000 in stocks stolen."

New York City police said they were not notified of the theft.

Liken Gotham Jails to Concentration Camp

NEW YORK (AP) — A report prepared for President Johnson's Commission on Law Enforcement and Administration of Justice has described New York State's jails as "reminiscent of Nazi concentration camps."

Goesta Wollin, executive director of the State Council on Crimes and Delinquency, said Wednesday "there are no stacks of bodies in the jails but there is the same basic inhumanity."

He saw Nazi prisons firsthand during World War II.

Wollin cited ancient toilet facilities in Rochester's 111-year-old Monroe County penitentiary, overcrowding in jails in Riverhead, Buffalo and New York City, and a shortage of rehabilitation centers.

However, he found two bright spots in the county and city correctional situation. He called the boys training school at South Kortright "one of the best in the world" and also said the staffs of many parole and probation boards were "excellent."

Disliked Smoking

King James I of England was an unrelenting opponent of smoking and once wrote, anonymously, "A custom loathsome to the eye, hateful to the nose, harmful to the brain, dangerous to the lungs and, in the black, stinking fume thereof, nearest resembling the horrible Stygian smoke of the pit that is bottomless."

Named Kingston Campaign Head For Fish Drive

JOHN J. NACCARATO

Appointment was made today of Third Ward Alderman John J. Naccarato as Kingston campaign head for Hamilton Fish Jr. in the Dutchess County candidate's bid for the Republican Congressional nomination from the 28th District.

"I am proud and delighted that John Naccarato has accepted this post," Fish said in making the appointment. "Mr. Naccarato, who was one of my earliest backers in Ulster County, is the sort of experienced and aggressive leader that I believe will lead to victory not only in the Primary election but in November."

Naccarato will head up the City of Kingston campaign for the 39-year-old Poughkeepsie attorney, and states "we already have workers and backers in every Ward and every election district in the City."

"I believe this campaign is an important one," Naccarato said. "I not only firmly believe that Hamilton Fish Jr. is the only really qualified candidate in the race, but feel a victory by him will be a real victory for every working man in the District."

"We know he is facing a hard fight against tremendous amounts of money being poured in from outside the District, and when he wins I believe it will establish that you don't have to be a millionaire to run for office. I would like all my friends to back the best man, my friend Hamilton Fish, Jr.," Naccarato said.

Married to the former Mary Lou Mehm, the Naccaratos have four children. He is the owner of the Naccarato Shoe Store (formerly Dittmar's).

Naccarato attended St. Mary's School, Kingston High School, and Dutchess Community College. He is a veteran of the Korean War, and graduated from the SNCO School as a first sgt.

He is active in community and civic affairs and is vice-president of the P-TA at the Meagher School; president of the Central Businessmen's Association; a member of St. Mary's Holy Name Society; a fourth degree Knight of Columbus, No. 275, and a member of American Legion Post number 150.

Naccarato has been an active part of the Kingston City Government while serving as Alderman of the 3rd Ward, having been chairman of Urban Renewal, a member of the Traffic Control Committee, and a member of the Finance Committee.

Daytona Beach Report: Too Much Fuzz, Drinking

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Too much fuzz, the kids observe. Too much drinking, the police say. And all agree there's plenty of both as thousands of the country's college set hits the beaches and bars for an Easter blowout.

"I've never seen so many policemen before in my whole life," said Bruce Fowler, 18, Atlanta, Ga.

Fowler is one of 40,000 students who have already crammed this town of 37,000. The Chamber of Commerce expects 100,000 to be jollying on the white beaches, wandering in the crowded streets and bursting out of the jammed motels by Easter Sunday.

Although hundreds have been arrested since the spring vacations began six weeks ago, Chamber of Commerce President O.L. White said the kids are nothing like the gangs of 1961 and 1962 that tossed sharks into swimming pools, swamped yachts and rioted in the streets of Fort Lauderdale.

Since then, the Fort Lauderdale Easter crowds have shrunk and only 7,500 are expected. A tent set up by local clergymen sits amid the bikini-clad lasses and strown beer cans on the Daytona beaches. It is intended to have an inhibiting influence on the kids.

However, a senior from Jersey City College said it "doesn't disturb our activities."

Colleagues say they have just come for a good time. "Where else is there to go?" a Montclair State (N.J.) junior said. "It's cold in New Jersey and I just can't stand the cold."

A growing number of student sun-seekers are going to the Bahamas and Bermuda, which cost a lot more but are considered in some circles to be much more in.

Teachers Adopt Compromise Pay

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Members of the Rochester Teachers' Association overwhelmingly approved a salary compromise plan recommended by a mediation panel, and now await City Council acceptance.

The plan would provide pay raises over a two-year period and would mean a total $2,149,000 increase in the Board of Education's budgets, which must be approved by the council.

Association leaders and the board agreed Tuesday to the plan. It was then submitted Wednesday to association members who voted 1,401-552 in favor of it.

The plan was recommended by the three-man panel formed last month after most of the 2,000 teachers in the association signed resignations, effective at the end of the current school year. Association officials, who held the resignations, threatened to submit them unless the board met association salary demands.

After announcing the outcome of the voting, Arnold Cantor, association president, said: "In the event the budget is not accepted by the City Council and the board cuts the salary appropriation, we can expect National Education Association sanction on Rochester almost immediately."

"In addition," he continued, "We will submit 1,300 resignations effective this June." The city employs 2,300 teachers.

The compromise plan would raise starting annual salaries from $5,150 to $5,700 in the 1966-67 school year and to $5,900 in 1967-68.

Increases would be in effect at all salary levels with the maximum pay reaching $12,255, the first year and $12,685 the second year for teachers with doctorates and 20 years of experience.

The association originally asked for a starting salary of $5,900 and a maximum salary of $12,685 with increases at all salary levels.

Bowling Alley Services

RAYNHAM, Mass. (AP) — Three protestant ministers say they plan to hold Good Friday services in a bowling alley.

They said the site was chosen for the convenience of customers and workers in a nearby shopping center.

Custody Sought Of Man Wanted In Area Robbery

Poughkeepsie police have filed a warrant with authorities in Stamford, Conn., seeking custody of a youth suspected of participating in an armed robbery with an accomplice on the night of March 24.

The suspect, Leo Kendall, 21, of Stamford, was under arrest in that city when Poughkeepsie authorities learned that he allegedly took part in the armed robbery of Jack Haber, owner of a juvenile shop in Poughkeepsie.

The warrant was issued after Detectives Robert Berberick and William Naughton went to Stamford to question Kendall, who allegedly identified a revolver that was seized by Haber during the robbery. Haber at the time he disarmed one of the two holdup men, thought the gun was loaded with blanks, but later investigation disclosed the weapon had live ammunition.

Haber was injured in the holdup when hit by the weapon on the head. Seventeen sutures were taken to close the head lacerations. A pocketbook containing $30 belonging to Mrs. Haber was taken as the intruders fled.

Grant Provisional Approval for Plant

ONTARIO, N.Y. (AP) — Approval of a provisional construction permit for a $74 million nuclear power plant on Lake Ontario has been recommended by the regulatory staff of the Atomic Energy Commission.

The recommendation was made Wednesday at the end of a two-day public hearing conducted by the commission in this Wayne County community. The commission's licensing board, which must give the approval, is expected to act on the recommendation within a month, a commission spokesman said.

Rochester Gas & Electric Corp. seeks to build the plant to supply electricity. It would be on the lake just north of here and about 16 miles east of Rochester.

Corporation lawyers asked that the commission expedite decision to enable construction to begin perhaps in June.

Alma Mater

The expression "alma mater" was applied to universities during the Middle Ages and probably was first used by a student in referring to his college at the University of Bonn, Germany. A statue of the Virgin Mary at Bonn was called "Alma Mater," or beloved mother.

Dear Heloise:

After having pets for many years, I have learned a little trick that others might like to know:

You can spoil a pet by feeding him leftovers. Be sure to mix dog food into all of the leftovers, for if you don't, and the day comes when there is no good homecooking left over for the pet, he will refuse to eat canned food.

I learned long ago that no matter how many good pieces of steak, etc., are left over, that if I do not cut it up, chop up the canned dog food which I want him to have, and mix the two together, it spoils every pet we've had so far.

Marge Crump

Dear Heloise:

I use elastic thread in my bobbin, and sew three rows one-eighth inch apart around the cuffs of pajamas, when elastic is called for. It does not bind as regular elastic does, and always gathers evenly.

Mrs. Paul DeLucio

Dear Heloise:

Recently I bought a new frost-free refrigerator. The instructions said to vacuum the motor frequently.

Since there was no room under the refrigerator to vacuum, the store's service department advised me to blow the dust out instead.

Now it has occurred to me that I have never used the blower on my vacuum cleaner enough. But, since receiving the advice about the refrigerator, I have been getting out dust not only under the refrigerator but under the range, washing machine, living room heater, screens, bookcase, cupboards, in and on window sills etc.

Perhaps other women, too, are overlooking this convenience.

Mrs. A.

Thanks to you, Mrs. A., for your hint. You're a doll.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

When I sprinkle the jeans for my family, I crease them, then I roll them on the creases. When ironing time comes, I don't have to take the time to crease them, and they sure seem to iron easier, especially the youngsters' watch pockets.

TV Audiences Await Death of Salesman Show

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Willy Loman, classic symbol of the futile search for success, will be unloading his sample cases on television next.

Willy is the leading figure of Arthur Miller's "Death of a Salesman." In presenting the beauty shop, I showed the operator the pictures.

Time saved, I was satisfied, and everyone was happy!

Eve Ingmire

Dear Heloise:

I wonder if other young mothers realize that diapers make wonderful little bath towels for baby?

The diapers are so soft and absorbent . . . and take less time to dry than towels.

Marianne Edwards

Dear Heloise:

Our children always thought they spent a good long time brushing their teeth — when we could see their brushing was insufficient.

We bought an egg timer so they could time themselves, and their teeth have really improved.

I, too, was surprised at how short a time I had brushed mine before. So, it's a good hint for adults as well as youngsters.

Mrs. Paul Zoller

Dear Heloise:

If you prefer to hang your tufted or cotton pile scatter rugs on the line to dry after washing them, use a hairbrush to fluff them up.

Brush up the tufts or pile while still wet. Aids in faster drying, and the rugs look fluffier and like new again.

Bartenders Liable

RENTON, N.J. (AP) — The New Jersey Supreme Court says bartenders can be held responsible for damages resulting from serving a customer who is visibly drunk.

The court rejected the contention of a tavern owner that an intoxicated person can be held guilty of contributory negligence.

Scout Pack 9 Observes Theme

The March meeting of Pack 9, sponsored by the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, opened with a bang as each cub sat on a balloon and broke it causing a chain reaction of bangs.

Under the direction of Webelos leader, Harold Burger, the Webelos presented colors and James Cameron led all in the Pledge of Allegiance. Taking part were Frederick Roland, David Barger, Donald Herring, Robert Burhans and Douglas Hoskin.

An opening ceremony was held by the following fathers, Doyle Barger, Joseph Berryann, Alfonso Lenza, William Garrity and Barnhardt Kramer.

Announcement given were: The Spectacular ticket sales were good, Summer program planned with a trip, family picnic and Cub Day at Camp Tri-Mount as highlights. Committee meeting April 11 at 7:15 in parish house. Next pack meeting April 25. Den Mothers are urgently needed for fall program.

Cubmaster Ted Blankschan stumped the Cubscouts with some riddles. A skit entitled "Knights for Hire" was given by Den 2. Den mother is Mrs. Katrina Krause. Participating were the following Cub Scouts, Alan Lenza, Stephan Krause, Monte Kramer, Gregory Roland, Ronald Zimmerman, Thomas Krause, Joseph Wolff and Den Chief, David Krause.

Cubmaster Blankschan made the following advancements — Den 1, Den Mother, Mrs. Lillian Cameron has David Schleele advancing to Wolf, Martin Schleele, a gold and two silver arrows under Bear, James Cameron, a silver arrow under Lion and Robert Burhans, a gold arrow under Lion.

Den 2, Mrs. Katrina Krause, den mother has Stephen Krause advancing to Bear and Ronald Zimmerman receives two silver arrows under Wolf.

Den 4, Mrs. Marilyn Garrity, den mother, has John Long receiving a silver arrow and two year pins go to Brian Huth and John Freer; one-year pin to William Garrity and George Ehrbar.

Den 5, Den Mother, Mrs. Jeanne Bittner has John Edwards advancing to Bear and receiving a gold and silver arrow under Bear.

Thomas McGarry advances to Bear and receives a gold and four silver arrows under Bear. Stuart Ericson receives a silver arrow under Bear.

A marshmallow eating contest was held with all dens taking part. Next the knights lined up to take turns riding a stick horse and spearing the ring.

At the closing, the knights made a circle, around the cubmaster, facing out and using their shields, formed a band of steel. Cubmaster Blankschan read the Cub Scout Promise from a scroll.

The refreshments were served by Den 1, with den dads cleaning up.

Didn't Compose It

Robert Burns did not compose the song "Auld Lang Syne." He said he took down the words as he heard an old man sing them, but he is usually given credit for writing them.

128 Attend Pioneer Banquet

The annual Pioneer Girls banquet was held in the First Baptist Church of Saugerties Monday evening, March 28. One hundred twenty-eight mothers, 'Pals', Gals' and guides enjoyed a buffet-style dinner in the lower auditorium of the church. After the dinner, awards were presented to the girls for their achievement work during the year.

In the Pilgrim group, those earning awards were as follows: Sewcraft badge — Patricia Taylor, Lynn Beck, Dorothy Moore, Gladys Henderson, Georgette McKee and Arlene Erickson. Handcraft badge — Debbie Myers, Gretchen Kropf, Lauren Bjorkman and Patricia Hutton. Nature badge — Dorothy Moore, Margaret McKee and Arlene Erickson. Outdoor badge — Gladys Henderson, Wendy Harbinger, Water badge — Ruth Battaglia, Judy Frame, Advanced Water badge — Gladys Henderson, Gretchen Kropf, Ruth Battaglia, Arlene Erickson and Loretta Mack. Collectible badge — Cindy Harbinger. Drawing badge — Gladys Henderson. Kitchen badge — Arlene Erickson. Garden badge — Gladys Henderson. Those earning the Voyager rank in the Pilgrim group were Gretchen Kropf, Dorothy Moore, Gladys Henderson and Kathy VanValkenburgh. Wendy Harbinger earned the Discoverer rank.

In the Colonist group, those earning badges were as follows: My Church badge — Clairan Ferrano. Team Sports badge — Clairan Ferrano. Baby-sitting badge — Clairan Ferrano, Nancy Frame, Donna Franchini. Household Care badge — Clairan Ferrano, Nancy Frame, Darlene Mack. Sketching badge — Ruth Finch. Literature badge — Lyanne Davis. Party Planning badge — Ruth Finch, Roberta Fierro, Donna Franchini, Darlene Mack, Nancy Frame, Clairan Ferrano, Lyanne Davis. In the Explorer group, Jeannine Ricketson earned her Gold Key and also received six achievement awards.

Several of the girls were also recognized for their perfect attendance record so far this year. After the awards were presented, Leon McLaughlin gave a brief description and a few facts and figures concerning the new Pioneer Girls' Camp Cherith, which is being constructed in the Adirondack Mountains. The new camp will be open this summer for young Pioneer Girl campers. Slides were also shown of the work in progress on the camp and of various camp activities in which the girls participate when attending camp. Mrs. Catherine Renard of Westerlo gave the final challenging talk of the evening.

Pioneer Girls meet every week on Monday night at 7 p. m. in the First Baptist Church of Saugerties. Any interested girl, from ages eight to 18 may attend the meetings. Pioneer Girls meet and hand-craft, fellowship, fun and a challenge for a Christian walk in every phase of a girl's life.

To meet the needs of persons who wish a course in shorthand dictation this spring, Superintendent of Schools Dr. Dexter O. Arnold announced today that a course consisting of seven two-hour sessions will be started on Monday, April 18, and end during the last week of May. Adults interested should register in Room 301, Saugerties Senior High School, at 7 p. m. on Monday, April 18. Patrick Rodden of the high school faculty will be the instructor.

AT LEAGUE MEETING—Saugerties League of Women Voters provided the community with an interesting and informative public meeting Wednesday evening. In a session held at the local Methodist Church, the League offered Leon Karpel, director of Mid-Hudson Libraries, as guest speaker. Taking part in the program were (l-r) Mrs. John Elliott, local study chairman; Mrs. John Oakley, president of the Saugerties League; and library speaker Karpel. (Freeman photo by Wagenfohr)

Release Letter Of Retirement From Chief Mills

Village of Saugerties Clerk James Gage today released letters received from two members of the local police force by the Village Board at its meeting this week.

Leaving active service as law enforcement officers in Saugerties shortly are Chief of Police Harold Mills, a career veteran on the force with more than 36 years of service, and Patrolman Roy L. Olsen, who only recently passed examinations and was appointed to the job.

The letter from Mills follows:

"I wish to inform you that due to my health, I have made application for my retirement to the New York State Retirement System to become effective on May 1, 1966. I also request that my three weeks vacation start on April 11 and that my last day of work will be April 9.

"I want to thank the members of the Village Board of Trustees for their trust in me and also, I especially wish to extend to Charles W. Steele my sincere appreciation for this cooperation since taking over the office of Police Commissioner.

"It is with deep regret that I cease my career as a law enforcement officer after over 36 years of service to the people of the Village of Saugerties.

Sincerely,
HAROLD MILLS,
Chief of Police

Olsen's letter follows:

"I, Roy Olsen, hereby wish to resign my position as probationary patrolman in and for the Village of Saugerties. I respectfully request that this resignation be effective as of Wednesday, March 30, 1966, and that my duties shall terminate on Friday, April 15, 1966, inclusive.

"Be it hereby understood that my reasons for this action are for personal obligations and satisfaction, and are in no way meant to reflect an unfavorable opinion on my part towards my superiors, my fellow officers, nor to the Police Department itself, nor the Village Saugerties.

"I enjoyed and respected my position, the nature of my job and the variety of work involved. I worked in an atmosphere of compatibility with the other officers in the department. I therefore again state my only reason for my resignation is the lack of earning power and few advancement possibilities."

Respectfully yours,
ROY L. OLSEN

Baptist Church Notes Services

The regular midweek prayer service and Bible study will be held in the First Baptist Church of Saugerties at 7:30 o'clock tonight. The public is invited to attend this service. The regular monthly business meeting will be held tonight at 8:30 o'clock.

Sunday, the Wonderful Word broadcast will be heard over WGHQ at 9:05 a. m. The Rev. Brooks N. Henry, pastor, will be continuing a series of studies from the Book of Revelation. At 9:45 a. m., Sunday school is held with classes for all ages, cradle roll through adult. At 11 a. m., the morning worship service is held; the pastor will be speaking on He Lives Forever. Beginner church and primary church are held during the sermon period. A nursery is also provided. At 6 p. m., the Berean Youth Fellowship will meet. The topic for this week is Pills, Potions, and People. This is a training hour for all Junior and Senior High School young people. At 7 p. m., the evening service is held; the pastor will continue a series of messages from the Dispensational Chart. The public is invited to attend this service. The Ordinance of Christian Baptism will follow the evening service.

Auxiliary to Meet

Members of the Washington Hook and Ladder Auxiliary are reminded that a regular monthly meeting of the organization is scheduled for tonight at 8 o'clock. Secretary Mary Ann Maines urges all members to be present for this session.

Board Meets Monday

Saugerties Town Board will meet Monday 8 p. m. instead of tonight due to the conflict of Holy Week services. The Town Board usually meets the first Thursday of each month in the Town Hall, Main Street, Saugerties.

Expect Busing Resolution; 3-Session Kindergarten Set

The voters of Saugerties Central School District will have an opportunity to become well informed concerning transportation plans for 1966-67, according to Dr. Dexter O. Arnold, superintendent of schools, when the Board of Education holds a public hearing at Saugerties Junior-Senior High School auditorium Wednesday, April 13, at 8 p. m.

It is anticipated that present groups will present resolutions for a change in the policy at the annual school district meeting scheduled for Tuesday, May 3. Dr. Arnold stressed that voters both for and against change need basic facts before they can vote with understanding. A board committee of LeRoy Snyder, chairman; Charles Emerick; and Edwin Olson, working with Dr. Arnold, Miss May Evans, director of pupil personnel services; and Lawrence Cahill, director of transportation, have planned an informative presentation and the Board of Education is hopeful that all persons concerned will attend the April 13 meeting. An opportunity for discussion will be provided.

Next year's enrollments will necessitate changes in the present transportation routes. Three additional elementary classrooms will be needed and all rooms available are currently in use. In order to acquire the three rooms, each kindergarten room will have three sessions per day instead of two. This procedure will free two rooms now used for remedial reading room will be equipped to provide the third classroom needed. Miss Evans will use area maps projected on a large screen to show 1966-67 pupil-school assignments. Parents can ascertain from this explanation whether or not their children will be transported under the existing transportation policy. The maps will also show which children will be affected if policy changes should be made to provide transportation with one mile, 7/10 mile and 1/2 mile limits.

Cahill will show regular routes and feeder routes necessary to transport children under each of the above limitations. He will also give cost figures for each limit.

As a result of this presentation, voters should have the information necessary to vote on any proposal resolutions with understanding. Actual cost figures and knowledge of the specific pupils concerned will assist them in the decisions which undoubtedly will confront them at the May meeting.

The superintendent and Board of Education urge all concerned to attend the 8 p. m. meeting at the Junior Senior High School auditorium on Wednesday, April 13.

NASA to Try Again Tonight

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)

— The National Aeronautics and Space Administration, frustrated by nine postponements in 10 days, tries again tonight to launch an Atlas-Centaur rocket on the first test firing of a first double ignition, hydrogen engine in space.

The firing was scheduled for 8 p. m. EST. The shot was postponed twice Wednesday — early in the morning and in late afternoon — because of dangerous winds 25,000-40,000 feet above Cape Kennedy. Two earlier postponements were associated with a power plug that failed to disconnect from the rocket after the countdown reached two seconds on March 29.

NASA tentatively reset the postponed Orbiting Astronomical Observatory shot for 2:36 p. m. Friday. It has been postponed five times due to weather and technical problems.

Dies in Crash

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Darrell Lewis, 48, of Olean, died Wednesday night when his automobile struck three parked cars on Jay Street near this city's business district.

The Mayor proclaimed Saturday, April 30, as Loyalty Day in the village. On that day, as in past years, the Saugerties Memorial Post No. 5034, its Auxiliary and the Dads of Foreign Service Veterans will sponsor Loyalty Day in Saugerties.

Driver Is Jailed After 9W Mishap

A Connecticut motorist was scheduled to appear later today before Peace Justice John Beaver, Town of Esopus, to answer a charge of driving while intoxicated as a result of a one-car accident about 2:10 this morning on Route 9W in that township. State police at the Highland substation said Richard Bell, 34, of Orange, Conn., was driving south on Route 9W when his car went off the left shoulder of the road and rolled over. Bell denied the charge before Justice Beaver. He was committed to Ulster County Jail in lieu of $200 bail for his appearance at 3 p. m. today. Bell suffered a scratched cheek in the accident. Troopers J. R. Ostmark and H. C. Foster made the investigation and arrest.

Mother and Two Children Die In Queens Fire

NEW YORK (AP) — A woman and her two children died in a fire that swept three homes in South Jamaica, Queens, today.

The victims were Mrs. Shirley Rogers, 26; her son Louis, 3, and daughter, Cheryl, 8.

They died in a second-floor bedroom of their home at 146-13 111th Ave.

A passerby ran toward the 2½-story frame house as he saw flames shooting from a porch, and he was joined by Mrs. Rogers' husband, Edward, 30, who was on his way home.

Both men attempted to enter the house but were driven back by the flames.

Firemen said the fire started in the Rogers home, spread to two other homes, which were damaged, and scorched another. Cause of the fire was not determined.

Closing for Easter

Local TB Group Hosts Regional Parley on Monday

The Ulster County TB and Health Association hosted the Hudson Valley 1966 Christmas Seal Campaign Regional Seminar Monday for the New York State TB and Respiratory Disease Association at the Howard Johnson's Restaurant, Rt. 28, Monday.

The seminar was opened with the welcome talk by John M. Robbins, secretary-treasurer of the Saugerties Savings Bank, and first vice president of the Ulster County TB-RD Group, who recently completed his fourth year as Ulster County Christmas Seal Co-chairman with County Treasurer Fred H. DuBois.

The session was geared to the evaluation and study of the State and local TB-RD Health agency fund-raising philosophy, procedures, methods and paid outstanding tribute to the major role of the many trained effective Christmas Seal Volunteers. Robbins noted that the volunteer force of the Ulster County group was a vital one without which the high levels of local Christmas Seal fund-raising and health programs could not be achieved and sustained. "In Christmas Seal Campaign alone," he noted "80 dedicated volunteers gave a total of 2,354 hours of effective work."

Consultant-speaker was L. L. Taylor, executive director of the Stark County TB and Health Association, Canton, O., former president of the National Conference of TB Workers who developed the philosophy-knowledge-application theme of effective, objective Christmas Seal Campaign. He spoke of the wide range of health service and educational program made possible by the Christmas Seal Campaign, formerly in the drastic reduction of Tuberculosis and now in the seemingly more difficult task of containing and eliminating infectious Tuberculosis, and in the control of the rapidly increasing Respiratory Disease, particularly Emphysema.

Other discussion-leaders included Charles Ahlers and Ellen Primm of the State TB-RD Association. Robert D. Ragsdale, executive director of the state group presided.

Representing the Ulster County TB-RD Association as the host group were E. Robert Johnson, executive director, and Miss Almira Porter, RN, and Miss Mabel Robinson, RN, the group's full time professional TB-RD program volunteer staff. Other counties represented included Albany, Columbia, Delaware, Dutchess, Greene, Orange, Newburgh, Putnam and Sullivan.

This was the first of four regional seminars scheduled also at Saratoga Springs, Rome and Genesee.

World News In Brief

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Study Sinatra Ban

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexican disc jockeys are considering a ban on Frank Sinatra's records because of his film "Marriage on the Rocks," which the government considers insulting.

Enrique Bermudez, president of the Mexican Association of Radio Announcers, said that a decision will be made next week, after a private viewing of the movie.

The government has banned Sinatra himself from entering Mexico and banned the movie because of scenes which it said "presented a false image of a filthy Mexican border town where quickie divorces and marriages were performed by a shabby mayor."

Protests Rejection

OFFENBACH, Germany (AP) — Sculptor Bern Rosenheim is protesting a City Council decision rejecting his sculpture design for the new Anne Frank School in favor of one considered more optimistic.

Rosenheim, a Jew, declined the $250 second-place cash award and turned it over to charity. The council said it considered his design, showing a human form behind bars, too gloomy and deep for children.

The winning design, showing rising birds, tied with Rosenheim's entry for second place. There was no first prize. The winning design was created by Ludwig Taelin, a member of the council and of the ruling Socialist party.

The school is named for the young Jewish girl who died in a German concentration camp after she and her family hid from the Nazis in Amsterdam for two years.

Omit Stalin Praise

MOSCOW (AP) — The belated premiere of Sergei Prokofiev's cantata honoring the October Revolution omitted two movements praising Stalin, musical sources reported today.

The cantata "For the 20th Anniversary of the October Revolution" was written in 1937 but didn't get its first performance in Moscow until Tuesday night, at a program honoring the 75th anniversary of the composer's birth.

Some observers viewed the omissions as an official gesture to a group of 25 Communist party intellectuals who last month wrote party Secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev that "any step toward rehabilitation of Stalin's memory would lead to a new split in the ranks of Communists" and would be interpreted as weakness in the face of Chinese praise for Stalin.

FRANK D. HOORNEBECK
Kingston Rotary Club President

Frank D. Hoornebeek, manager of the Kingston office of Carl M. Loeb, Rhoades & Co., members of the New York Stock Exchange, was named president of the Kingston Rotary Club Wednesday.

A native of Ulster County, Hoornebeek was born in Ellenville, where his father, the late Clarence A. Hoornebeek, practiced law for many years. He is a graduate of George School, Bucks County, Pa., and received his Bachelor of Science degree in Commerce and Finance from Bucknell University. Following his military service in Heidelberg, Germany, he did graduate work in estate planning at New York University. He received his investment training in the Wall Street office of Estabrook & Co. and is a registered representative of the New York Stock Exchange.

Active in civic affairs, the president-elect is chairman of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce, past president of the Men's Club of the Old Dutch Church and a member of the Mendelssohn Club. He had been serving Kingston Rotary as its vice president.

Other Officers

Other officers elected by the Board of Directors preceding the regular luncheon-meeting were the Rev. Edwin C. Coon, first vice president; George H. Devine, second vice president; Herbert F. Gertner, secretary; A. Theodore Young, treasurer; Dr. Kurken V. Kirk, sergeant-at-arms.

Installation of officers will be held June 29. Dr. Dale B. Lake is the retiring president.

Soviet Congress Markedly Different From Other Parleys

Net Result Will Be to Deepen Chasm Between Moscow, Peking

An AP News Analysis
By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

The Soviet Communist party's 23rd congress in effect has delivered a stinging rebuff to Red China by rejecting use of the threat of total war as an instrument of world Communist policy. The net result of the congress will be to deepen the chasm between Moscow and Peking.

No Dire Threats

This congress has been a sober meeting, markedly different from those of the past in the absence of dire threats and ominous rocket-rattling.

The Kremlin leaders, evidently taking a sharp look at their internal and external problems, scaled down Nikita S. Khrushchev's economic boasts and muted the strident bellicosity which the former Soviet chief used as a tool of foreign policy.

Under Khrushchev, the 22nd congress in 1961 carried on its business to the thundering accompaniment of new nuclear bomb tests and Soviet pressure on West Berlin. Khrushchev constantly implied Soviet superiority in modern weapons of destruction.

Much of what Khrushchev said was turned out to be bluff, as the West later discovered in show-downs over Berlin and Cuba. The result was to lessen the non-Communist world's belief in Soviet military potential.

At this congress, remarks about Soviet military might and prospects were perhaps purposely vague. The impression left by leaders was that they would be wary of creating new and dangerous tensions, for all their talk of support for the Communists in Viet Nam against the United States.

Report - speeches of Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and others indicated a conviction that the Soviet Union would have much to keep it occupied in the next five years even to achieve relatively modest economic goals and give the consumer more goods.

Soviet Pace Slackens

The pace will be much slower than Khrushchev had predicted. The program is accompanied by measures which seem intended to insure the party's unquestioned authority while the government experiments with new economic measures borrowed from the capitalist world.

To account for this slowdown of promises, Kosygin has fixed the blame on a combination of Khrushchev's policies and the attitudes of the United States. Khrushchev, he said, posed unsound economic targets and the United States threatened world peace. Thus, consumer gains would have to be limited.

"The international situation has seriously deteriorated in recent years because of the United States, and the Soviet Union has thus been compelled to increase expenditures on defense," Kosygin said in his economic report.

This could, however, reflect strong representations of Soviet military men to a regime which needs their support and wants to keep them satisfied just as the revival of certain Stalinist-sounding measures could be a form of concession to Communist party conservatives worried about the party's future authority.

Kosygin's speech confirmed that new economic measures discussed last September by the party were going into effect.

These involve profitability, material incentives, bonuses for factory and office workers, private house - building, increased production of passenger automobiles and a number of other measures which can work profound psychological change in the U.S.S.R.

This is a continuation, evidently, of the turning inward of the Soviet Union toward its own backyard problems. It promises to arouse little in Red China's Communist leadership but rage and scorn.

Teacher Dropped By Rye District Viet Protesting

MAMARONECK, N.Y. (AP)—A 35-year-old grade school teacher who took part in public protests against the war in Viet Nam will be dropped by the Rye Neck school district.

The school board in the district, which includes parts of the village of Mamaroneck and the town of Rye, voted 6 to 0 Wednesday night to terminate the employment of Arthur Rosenberg, teacher in the Daniel Warren School.

Rosenberg set off a controversy last Thanksgiving when he fasted for 10 days in protest against the war.

At that time, despite demands from parents that he be discharged, the board ruled that his actions had not affected the performance of his duties.

Last week Rosenberg took part in a noisy debate in a local school on the Viet Nam issue.

The action Wednesday night, on recommendation of Superintendent Joseph Carol, means that Rosenberg's probationary employment will be terminated at the end of this term. He is completing the three-year probationary period this year and would have been given tenure if the board had not acted.

Recover Stolen Car

The car of Bernard Webber of Walton Lane, which was reported stolen on March, has been recovered by the Richmond, Va., city police on a back street in that city. The matter has been transferred to the FBI. Webber reported his 1957 car had been taken from the premises, along with the sum of $40. The matter has been under investigation by the sheriff's department.

THEY'RE SEEKING INSECT SECRETS

Because tiny insects each year are responsible for millions of dollars in crop damage, research into new means of control is, year in and year out, a major effort of the Agriculture Department research stations. At right, a white-lined sphingid moth is attracted to a sensor, bottom, which a tiger moth already is sitting on. The sensor, emitting a low-intensity red light beam, is an effort to duplicate the radiation which attracts insects over great distances to food sources. If it successfully fools them, it could be developed as an electric trap.

Patterns, no two alike, painted around hive openings at Beltsville, Md., are used to test ability of bees to recognize patterns and colors in being guided to their home hives.

Beltsville microbiologist A. C. Michael is surrounded by bee colonies under diets containing various combinations of substances lethal to insects. The search is for insecticides which will kill pests but not beneficial insects such as bees.

Completes Training

LARRY A. MILLER

Marine Private Larry A. Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Miller of Route 2, Accord, has completed individual combat training at Camp Lejeune, N. C. The 4-week course included 200 hours of instruction under simulated combat conditions, covering squad tactics, guerrilla warfare, day and night combat, patrolling and the use of infantry weapons.

His next stop is four weeks of basic specialist training in his military occupational field. Marines to be assigned to infantry units will be taught infantry sub-specialties, such as the machine gun, grenade launcher, rifle or mortar. Marines to be assigned to highly technical specialties will be sent to military technical schools for their specialist training.

Leathernecks bound for the Pacific will receive more training when they report to the Staging Battalion at Camp Pendleton, Calif. This training will emphasize jungle warfare, patrolling, and civic action based on experience gained in Viet Nam.

Mac Sorley Promoted

James T. Mac Sorley, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Mac Sorley, Mary Avenue, Lake Katrine, was promoted to Army specialist five March 23 at Walter Reed General Hospital in Washington, D. C. Specialist Mac Sorley, 25, entered the Army in January 1964. He attended Wappingers Central High School in Wappingers Falls.

Aldrich and Fish To Tangle Again

The Town of Hurley Republican Club, noting that interest has been building up in the race for Congress in the 28th Congressional District, has planned its next meeting along these lines.

Officers of the club have announced that the two announced Republican Congressional candidates, Alexander Aldrich and Hamilton Fish Jr., will debate before the club at a meeting Tuesday, April 12 at 8 p. m. in the West Hurley Firehouse.

All interested people in the area are invited to attend the verbal clash and refreshments will be served following the debate.

2 Upstate Boys Rest After River Travels

NEW YORK (AP)—Two teen-age boys from Saratoga Springs, N.Y., are resting up today after a five-day journey down the Hudson River in a six-foot outboard motor boat.

The youngsters—Robert Furman and William Armstrong, both 15—had a near disaster on the last leg of the trip Wednesday.

They nearly were swamped by three tugboats and rough waters but they brought their yellow boat, "The Moon," safely out of the water after bailing it out six times.

They said they were plagued with engine troubles and limped into New York on one cylinder. While in New York the boys are staying with William's great aunt, Miss Clara Konrad, at 711 W. 171st St.

LBJ Going to Ranch

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson will fly to his Texas ranch today to spend the Easter holiday there with Mrs. Johnson and their two daughters.

Press secretary Bill D. Moyers said Johnson probably would leave about mid-afternoon. Moyers said he did not know how long Johnson would stay at the ranch.

Denies IRS Filing

WASHINGTON (AP)—Commissioner Sheldon S. Cohen of the Internal Revenue Service has denied that a former IRS agent was fired because he refused to join in a "fix."

The former agent, Archie P. Sherar, testified last week before a Senate subcommittee headed by Sen. Edward V. Long, D-Mo., that he had been ordered to falsify records in a 1962 tax dispute between clients of a San Francisco accountant, Nathan Friedman, and the IRS. Sherar said he believed Friedman was a personal friend of former IRS Commissioner Mortimer M. Caplin.

In a letter sent Wednesday to Long, Cohen said Sherar had been discharged "because he refused to cooperate and furnish records for the audit of his own tax returns."

He said: "There is no foundation to the allegation of a personal relationship" between Caplin and Friedman.

June Draft 15,000

WASHINGTON (AP)—The June draft call has been set at 15,000 by the Defense Department, the lowest level since the Viet Nam buildup began last August.

Pentagon officials explained Wednesday that the "decrease in the June draft call is primarily due to the fact that voluntary enlistments normally increase in June at the end of the school year."

The May draft quota was set at 34,600. The June call is solely for the Army. Other services will rely on enlistments.

ABC Names Watson

NEW YORK (AP)—The American Broadcasting Co. announced today that George Watson will be chief of its Moscow bureau, which has been without a head since the expulsion of Sam Jaffe last Sept. 30.

Watson had been slated to replace Jaffe before the expulsion but his visa was canceled by the Soviets and just now re-granted, ABC said.

Jaffe was expelled after ABC correspondent John Scall reported from Washington that there were signs of a Kremlin shakeup. Watson will leave for his new post Friday, ABC said.

Denies Political Risk

GREENWICH, Conn. (AP)—"Innocent and defenseless" is State Tax Commissioner John L. Sullivan's view of Connecticut commuters who would have to pay a proposed New York City income tax.

"There is no political risk," Sullivan told the Greenwich Rotary Club Wednesday, "in taxing those who do not have a weapon for retaliation at the polls."

The commissioner's criticism of New York Mayor John V. Lindsay's tax plans included a reply to the contention that commuters enjoy all of the city's services, without helping to pay for them.

Sullivan asked: "What community doesn't provide services to visitors?"

Mental Health Groups to Meet On April 27th

The forthcoming annual meeting of the Ulster County Association for Mental Health is being planned to provide a unique opportunity for a discussion among representatives of local agencies throughout Ulster County who are either engaged in mental health programs which are receiving financial aid from the New York State Department of Mental Hygiene, or for whom there is a possibility of receiving aid. Specialist advisors to the group will be Ruth Lavery, EdD, principal Community Mental Health Representative of the New York State Department of Mental Hygiene, and Dr. Emeline Place Hayward, director of Ulster County Mental Health Center.

The agencies participating in the discussion will be: Ulster County Association for Retarded Children, Ulster County Association for Perceptually Handicapped Children, Benedictine Hospital, Kingston Children's Home, Ulster County United Cerebral Palsy, Division of Vocational Rehabilitation, Ulster County Office, Community Hospital, Ellenville, Kingston Hospital, and Ulster County Family Court. The meeting, which is open to the public, will be held at the Governor Clinton Hotel, Kingston, Wednesday, April 27 at 8 p. m.

The purpose of the discussion is to enable the Ulster County agencies working in the field of mental health to become better acquainted with their respective programs, and to view the services as a whole for Ulster County; also, to consider gaps in existing services and ways of filling them; and present the discussion in such a way as will be informative to the audience.

The program is for the enlightenment, not only of directors and members of the Ulster County Association for Mental Health, but also for members of other agencies and the interested public.

Representatives of the different agencies will be announced at a later date.

Inquiries concerning the program should be directed to the office of the local Association for Mental Health, at 27 East O'Reilly Street, Kingston. The office is open Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Fridays, but will be closed this coming Friday for the Good Friday observances.

Fall Injuries Fatal

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — William Rose of Carteret, N.J., is dead at 48 of injuries suffered in a 36-foot-long fall from a scaffold on the side of a downtown building here.

Rose died Wednesday in Albany Medical Center Hospital. He was injured earlier in the day when a falling cornerstone knocked him from the rig on the side of the Broadway Arcade Building.

The masonry broke loose while he was at work steam-cleaning the five-story structure.

Spoofs Pageants

Even Miss Teen Stunned, Show One of Funniest

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Television, which talks a lot about satire but never does much about it, came up Wednesday night with a spoof on that fine broadcasting staple, the beauty contest.

The program, one of the funniest of the season, was ABC's "Miss Teen International Pageant." The only trouble was that it was not intended to be that funny, just a slavish imitation of the five or six other "pageants" which occupy the television screens from early spring to late summer.

CBS and NBC have just about cornered the beauty pageant market between them and ABC obviously felt a little out of things. So it put together what looked suspiciously like a homemade one.

Thirty girls, some from foreign parts but others from places as distant from Los Angeles as Pacific Palisades and Santa Barbara, were summoned to Hollywood. And by the time we tuned in to the beginning of the show on the stage of "The Hollywood Palace" there were 11 semi-finalists left including just one local girl, Miss Teen USA.

The youngsters, between the ages of 15 and 18, were all cute looking and conducted themselves with dignity and tremendous poise, considering the circumstances. They were surrounded, engulfed and almost drowned by assorted performers from ABC television series.

Adam West, sans scalloped cape and face mask, but in scholarly glasses and tuxedo, was host and spent considerable time peering uncertainly at off-camera cue cards and stumbling over "Batman" jokes.

In addition there were about two dozen other ABC-TV performers around, including "Lurch" the giant butler from "The Addams Family." The huge crowd around the few girls suggested soon that they were really kidding beauty pageants.

The high point started when Robert Goulet leaped athletically to stage center to do a sight gag with "Batman." It turned into a shambles when Goulet couldn't locate a pocket comb which was to be the vital prop of the joke. Then "Batman" fumbled the line that was to set up the laugh.

And finally, Arlene Dahl swept on stage to congratulate the winner, a very pretty Swedish girl, and accidentally knocked the beauty queen's rhinestone tiara right off her head.

The new "Miss Teen International" didn't cry for joy, which is almost mandatory for winners. She just looked stunned — and you can't blame her.

It was, all in all, one of those memorable hours of television. It ranks, for this viewer, with an incredible moment several seasons back when in a live program preceding an "Oscar Awards" show, a lot of famous stars were acting silly and talking indelicately, not to mention vulgarly. It turned out that everybody concerned thought it was just a camera rehearsal, not the real thing.

after the war, Russia under Stalin was a menace to the world, practically hissing at the West. Now it's talking sweet reasonableness and accusing the United States of aggression in Viet Nam.

Reversal Trend

In the 13 years since his death, Stalin, hero of the Communist world for decades, has been so established in the Russian people's mind by his successor, Premier Khrushchev, as a maniacal nut, that Khrushchev's successors have begun to think it necessary to make Stalin look halfway decent at least.

After World War II China, limp and split by civil war, was aided by billions of American dollars. Now a Communist stronghold, it hates the United States and has become so arrogant and aggressive that it is accusing its big Communist neighbor, Russia, of being reactionary.

Worse still, China, a helpless giant for centuries, has become a menace both to Russia and its Asian neighbors.

The United States, struggling after the war to get its economy going in the midst of gigantic strikes and tottering price controls, now has an overheated economy, so much so that the Johnson administration is considering a tax boost to combat inflation.

Lost Exclusive Rights

The United States alone after the war had the atomic bomb. But gradually Russia, Britain, France and even Red China got into the nuclear act with an embarrassing effect on long-range bomber planes.

Now the bomber is becoming obsolete to a great extent as nuclear missiles replace it for the long range dirty work.

Germany, which was the worst fascist state in history, has undergone an almost fantastic transformation. East Germany is Communist and West Germany, highly democratic, is dripping with prosperity although it was in ruins at war's end.

French President Charles de Gaulle, who never could have returned to France and power if it had not been for the Western Allies, is now withdrawing from the Atlantic alliance, a tactic which is supposed to be gesture of French pride and independence.

In Safe Position

It's a highly questionable tactic, since De Gaulle knows that whether or not he's in the alliance the allies will protect him if by any chance, and that looks remote, France should be attacked.

Meanwhile in the same quarter of a century the great colonial powers have had to disgorge almost all their colonies, letting them have freedom and independence, which looks like a pair of mixed blessings in some of the new nations. South Viet Nam is a good example.

The Vietnamese were under the heel of France until 1954 when the French, defeated by the Communists, had to pull out, leaving it to the United States to help the South Vietnamese who were not Communist.

But there now in the midst of war against the Communists the South Vietnamese are struggling among themselves for power.

Miss the Point

They do this while Americans fight the war. They hoist placards denouncing Americans. And they apparently give little or no thought to a very basic question: If they can't have an orderly government in the midst of war, how can they hope to have one if and when the war is settled?

The present troubles in Viet Nam may be butted over at this time but the prospect of eventual chaos and collapse looks like a good bet, thus making all the American efforts useless.

TELLING VISITORS SHE HAS BAD COLD

Question: Last evening some friends of ours dropped in unexpectedly to pay us a visit. I had a terrible cold and was not fit to entertain guests. I had planned to "doctor" my cold and go to bed early. I explained this to our friends when they arrived. They said they were sorry and left. My husband thinks I was wrong to have said anything to them. Will you please tell me if I was wrong?

Answer: You were very definitely not wrong in telling your visitors about your cold. In fact, it would have been inconsiderate not to mention it and risk their catching it. However, I don't think you should have added that you wanted to go to bed as this was tantamount to asking them to leave. I am sure they would have had the perception to do so without your suggesting it.

Invitation to Dinner in Husband's Honor

Question: A testimonial dinner is being given for the president of our company who is retiring in a few weeks. Engraved invitation are being sent out. An invitation will, of course, be sent to his wife. The question has come up as to whether or not the invitation should be addressed to Mr. and Mrs. or Mrs. alone?

Answer: Even though the president has been consulted ahead of time and therefore need not be sent a separate invitation, the one sent to their house should be addressed to Mr. and Mrs.

Seating in Car

Q: When two boys (I am a junior in college) go out on a double date, where should the boy who is not driving and his girl sit if the driver's girl friend is picked uplast? Do they get into the back, leaving the driver alone like a chauffeur, or do they sit up front with him even though it means the first girl will have to climb out and in again when the second one is picked up?

A: Even though sliding in and out of a low car is a nuisance, it would be pretty unfriendly for the non-driver and his date to get into the back. If the driver's date is left off first when they go home, again the others should climb out of the back and join the driver in the front for the remainder of the ride.

HAM AND APPLE CASSEROLE—The flavorful remains of Easter's ham combine with convenient pie-sliced apples for a deliciously different casserole. Serve with salad and biscuits and wait for compliments.

Make the Most of Easter's Ham With Fine Hearty Ham and Apple Casserole; Tasty

It really doesn't seem right to use the word "left-overs" in connection with ham, for few meats yield the dividends of a good ham. Sliced for sandwiches or diced for omelettes, creamed with eggs or cubed and fried with potatoes, there seems almost no end to its versatility.

Today's Ham and Apple Casserole is just that little bit deliciously different dish, however, that satisfies the creativity of the cook and commands compliments from those to whom it is served. It's a toothsome disguise for the remains of an Easter ham, but flavorful enough to justify starting from scratch.

Two cans of pie-sliced apples—the same unsweetened apple slices you've used for pies—are the basis for this succulent and easy-to-prepare main dish.

You add the seasonings to these natural-flavor canned apple slices, which will not break apart in the cooking, and combine with ham for a hearty casserole which needs only to be served with a green salad and biscuits to make a complete and delicious family meal.

Ham and Apple Casserole (Serves 6)

- 2 cans (1 lb 4 oz. each) Comstock Pie-Sliced Apples
- 1 teaspoon dry mustard
- 2 teaspoons vinegar
- 1/2 cup brown sugar
- 3 half-inch thick country-cured ham slices
- 1/2 cup cornflake crumbs or 1 package oven-ready biscuits
- 3 tablespoons butter or margarine

Mixed undrained apple slices with mustard, vinegar and brown sugar. Place apple slice mixture into a buttered shallow baking pan. Cut ham into cubes or strips and place in with apple slices. Sprinkle top of casserole with cornflake crumbs and dot top with pieces of butter or margarine. Or place biscuits on top of the casserole. Bake in a 375 degree F. oven for 20-25 minutes or until top of casserole is golden brown.

Egg Prices Down For This Easter; Plenty of Eggs

By SALLY RYAN

NEW YORK (AP) — Traditional Easter dinners may cost a little more this year than last, but food shoppers will find plenty of lower prices this week than they have in months.

There are offerings of special ham, turkey and leg of lamb. Ham prices are down as much as 2 cents a pound on the West Coast. Turkey is down 2 cents a pound and lamb 3 cents.

There are plenty of eggs for the Easter bunny, with prices down 2 to 4 cents a dozen at a New York City area supermarket chain.

Butter is down as much as 1 cent a pound, but that may be a fluke. Wholesale prices on butter rose this week. Butter production the week ended April 1 was down 27 per cent from a year ago.

Milk, cheese and other dairy products may be going up, too. The food industry is scraping last year's "food is a bargain" campaign for one emphasizing family well-being.

Even President Johnson took notice of food prices this past week. He asked housewives to keep an eye on items on which prices were rising, and then try to eliminate them from their shopping lists.

The federal government reported a further decline in farm prices and eventually consumers' food bills — appears probable this month, with supplies of pork, eggs, poultry and vegetables.

The first Florida peas and asparagus of the season are coming to the market, along with increasing strawberry shipments from Louisiana and Texas.

Pole bean, carrot, celery, endive, escarole and cantaloupe prices are lower in some areas. Higher are cucumbers, onions, peppers, tomatoes, cauliflower, beans and grapes.

Temperatures in the 90s in California delta have hurried along the asparagus crop, which is crowding into the market.

Tuna fishing is improving. The California canners packed 10 per cent more cases the week ended March 26 than a year ago.

COMMITTEE FOR ANNUAL SPRING DANCE—Details for the American Legion's spring dance will be handled by seated (l-r) Frank M. Turner; George C. Heppner, chairman; Charles M. King; standard (l-r) Commander Paul C. Gardner, John Van Dine, Gerard Geuss, Robert Delaney. Also serving on the committee will be Joseph Mercier, Frank Roedel, William Hanley, Fred Bayona, and Albert O. Sonnenberg.

Kingston Legion Announces Date of Annual Spring Dance

Kingston Post 150 of the American Legion has announced its spring dance will be given on May 7 in the Legion Home, 18 West O'Reilly Street. Those attending will have an opportunity to see the newly redecorated lounge which boasts a colonial motif. A buffet will be served at midnight and a cocktail party is also planned.

The dance will be held from 10 p. m. to 2 a. m. and music will be provided by Legionnaire James Sweeney and his orchestra.

Tickets have been mailed to all members of Kingston Post 150. Tickets will not be sold to the public because of ABC regulations but members will have guest privileges.

Dance proceeds will enable the Legion to continue its many service projects. These include a Babe Ruth team for boys between the ages of 12 and 15 and the American Legion Baseball team for boys between 15 and 18.

Other Legion sponsored projects are Boys State, annual oratorical contest and scholarship awards.

JOANN A. MEEKS

Awarded NAACP Scholarship; Will Attend College Here

Miss JoAnn A. Meeks of 36 Post Street here in Kingston was awarded the annual NAACP Ulster County Community College Scholarship, it was announced today by Everett Hodge, president of the local branch of the NAACP.

JoAnn was born in Kingston and is a graduating senior of Kingston High School. She placed first in the New York State Exposition Youth Art Festival of 1964. A member of the KHS Art and Drama clubs, JoAnn plans to major in art this fall.

Her mother, Mrs. Martha Meeks said that she was grateful to the NAACP and proud that JoAnn has this opportunity to continue her education.

Unique Flower Show Planned for June; Open Competition

A flower show unique in the history of the Hudson Valley, will be held at New Windsor Cantonment, Vails Gate, June 4 and 5.

The unusual feature of the show is its limitation to plants of the Colonial period with special emphasis on plant material found in the botanical manuscript of Jane Colden, America's first Woman Botanist.

Jane Colden was the daughter of Caldwellader Colden, the last acting governor of New York before the Revolution. Dr. Colden was a physician, educated at the University of Edinburgh who came to this country in 1710. He was surveyor general and for the last 15 years of his life he acted as governor. He also was a botanist of international fame and taught his daughter Jane, the fifth of 13 children, to follow in that science.

When Jane was small the family moved to what now is the town of Montgomery, Orange County, and she grew up on Dr. Colden's 3,000 acre estate. There, in a comparatively short life — she died at 42 in 1766 — she collected, described and named, following the newly devised system of Linnaeus, more than 300 native plants of New York State. Her manuscript, illustrated with printer's ink impressions, ran to 341 pages and it is now in the British Museum.

This year is the 200th anniversary of her death. The show was organized and will be sponsored by the National Temple Hill Association, Inc., which operates New Windsor Cantonment. The Cantonment is a reconstruction of General Washington's last camp of the American Revolution. The Public Building, where the show will be held, is the site of Washington's famous speech where in 1783 he quelled an incipient mutiny among his restless and unpaid officers.

Members of the Federated Garden Clubs of New York State, Inc., and the Garden Club of America located on the west shore of the Hudson from Sloatsburg to Kingston and the east shore from Garrison to Rhinebeck are invited to participate.

The show will be open to the public from 2 to 5 p. m. on June 4; 10:30 a. m. to 5 p. m. on June 5. The admission charge is 90 cents. Members of the Cantonment's Corps of Guides in costume will be in attendance both days of the show.

Prizes will be awarded for the "best in show" arrangements, for the best botanical specimen in the Horticultural section and for the largest collection of designated plants from the Colden manuscript. Applications for entries must be sent in by May 20 and should be sent to the National Temple Hill Association, Box 525, Vails Gate, N. Y., or made through a club's liaison member for the committee.

Many classes are limited and the order of acceptance will depend on the date of the application's arrival. Specific information concerning the classes and their requirements may be obtained from the committee in charge.

Classes will be judged by accredited judges who will pay strict attention to the accuracy and authenticity of the entrants to the colonial period.

Members of the committee in charge are: Mrs. William Small, Mrs. John McKeever, Mrs. John Wilkins and Mrs. Walter Drake of Newburgh; Mrs. Frederick Todd and Mrs. David Brown of Cornwall; Mrs. Clare Hoyt Sr. of Wallkill; Mrs. George McIntosh and Mrs. Charles B. Reed, (chairman) of New Windsor and Mrs. David Rosenbaum (co-chairman) of Pine Bush.

Eighteen Teenagers Will Win Paris Trips In Sewing Contest

Monday (April 11) marks the opening date of the 14th Annual Singer World Stylemaker Contest, a sewing competition for girls aged ten through 18. This year more than 4,000 prizes will be awarded, including jet trips to Paris for the 18 finalists and their mothers. In Paris, three "Queens of Sewing" will be crowned, one in each of three age divisions. It is estimated by The Singer Company, sponsors of the contest, that 70,000 girls will compete.

How to Enroll

In order to enter the contest, a girl enrolls in an eight-lesson (2½ hours each) sewing course at any Singer Center in the United States some time between April 11 and August 13. Girls ten through 12 qualify for the Junior Miss Division; girls 13 through 15 are entered in the Sub Deb Division; and girls 16 through 18 are eligible for the Deb Division.

While taking the course, for which there is a $10 fee, a contestant makes up her entry under the supervision of a sewing instructor. She may make a dress, ensemble, suit, or sports outfit, for herself, using any commercial pattern. This entry will be judged for fashion rightness (general appearance, fit, color, and fabric selection), as well as for construction and sewing skill. Deadline for finished entries is August 27, and all entries will be returned to contestants at the conclusion of the judging.

Judged Four Times

When they are selected, the three top-winning entries will have been judged four times by four different panels of fashion judges.

The first judging will be held locally, and three winners—one per age division—will be selected from each participating Center.

The second judging will be regional; approximately 4,000 entries will be submitted to 25 agency areas, and each area will select one winner per age division, a total of 75.

The third judging, the National Semifinals, will see the 75 regional winners' entries judged by a panel of New York City fashion authorities in New York City. From the 75, the panel will select 18 National Finalists, six per age division.

The fourth, and final, judging will be international. On October 22, the 18 finalists from all over the country will fly to Paris with their mothers via Pan American jet. Five days of sightseeing will be climaxed by the final judging at a fashion show at the Paris Hilton on October 27. That day, from the 18 finalists, three "Queens of Sewing" will be selected by an international board of fashion experts.

Prizes will be awarded to all winners along the way to the top. Local winners will receive portable transistor phonographs, and Regional winners will be recipients of "Touch & Sew" sewing machines, the exact model determined by the age division.

In addition to their trips to Paris for the finals, the 18 National Finalists will receive portable typewriters and checks: $400 for each girl in the Junior Miss Division; $600 for each girl in the Sub Deb Division; and $800 for each girl in the Deb Division.

The three "Queens of Sewing" will win additional prizes: an all-expense trip to either New York City or Disneyland for three, for five days (or $1000 cash) for the Junior Miss Queen; a second trip to Paris, or an all-expense trip to London or Rome for two, for a week (or $1800 cash) for the Sub Deb Queen; and a second trip to Paris, or an all-expense trip to London or Rome for two, for a week (or $1800 cash) plus an additional $200, for the Deb Queen.

Complete details on the contest may be obtained at any Singer Center.

Members of the committee in charge are: Mrs. William Small, Mrs. John McKeever, Mrs. John Wilkins and Mrs. Walter Drake of Newburgh; Mrs. Frederick Todd and Mrs. David Brown of Cornwall; Mrs. Clare Hoyt Sr. of Wallkill; Mrs. George McIntosh and Mrs. Charles B. Reed, (chairman) of New Windsor and Mrs. David Rosenbaum (co-chairman) of Pine Bush.

FORMER APPLE QUEEN IS HOSTESS—Former Hudson Valley Apple Queen, Sandra Rockhill of Kingston, now a junior at Boston University, was a hostess at the annual Spring Apple Harvest breakfast held in Boston's famous Union Oyster House. Sandra, who is this year's Miss Sleeping Beauty, is standing behind Arthur Bishop, president of the New York-New England Apple Institute, and the Institute's secretary, Mrs. Martha Moraine.

New Entry Listed For Page One Queen Annual Competition

Area young women, planning to participate in the Page One Queen Contest on Sunday, May 1, a feature of the annual Page One Ball sponsored by the Kingston Newspaper Guild, are urged to obtain applications and return them to the committee in charge.

A fourth entry has been received. She is Miss Annette Mistretta, 16, of 199 B Bellwood Lane, Saugerties. Previously entered were Miss Lauren Winne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Winne, of 280 Washington Avenue, city; Cheryl Ann Hackney, of Box 63A, Meadow Brook Drive, Saugerties, and Patricia M. Tiano, 76 Brewster Street, this city.

Miss Hackney is the daughter of Mrs. Marjorie L. Hackney, and Miss Tiano is a daughter of John and Margaret Tiano.

Miss Mistretta is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Mistretta. She is a student at Saugerties High School. Her hobbies include cooking, sewing, reading non-fiction, writing poems, ice-skating, learning to play the accordion on her own without lessons. She has four pen pals, two in Brooklyn and one each in Florida and Germany.

Miss Mistretta's interests include doing something for mankind and her country, if possible, and practical nursing or the U. S. Army Nurses Corps. She is 5 feet, 2 inches tall, weighs 105 pounds, and has black hair and dark brown eyes.

She received the art commendation in 1962, perfect attendance and punctuality honor in 1962-64, received a gold pin award in 1962-64 for excellence in music, and this year she is on the Saugerties High School credit roll.

During the summer she is employed as a waitress at the Blue Mountain Riding Center. She is president of the Saugerties High School Dance Club and program chairman of the Future Nurses Club and Homemaking Club and she is also on the Student Council. She plays the clarinet and baritone saxophone in the high school band and formerly played the viola in the orchestra while a pupil in the fifth and sixth grades.

Any high school or college girl in the area between the ages of 16 and 21 is eligible to enter the Page One Queen contest. Applications may be obtained by writing - Kingston Newspaper Guild, RPO Box 153, Kingston, or from Miss Joan Woinoski, Uptown Freeman Office, 239 Fair Street.

Judging of candidates for the Page One Queen awards will take place Sunday, May 1 at a reception to be held at the Flamingo Restaurant, Route 9W, Saugerties. Three finalists will be selected at that time. The public is invited to attend without charge.

The Page One Queen will be announced at the KNG Page One Ball to be held Saturday night, May 14 at the Governor Clinton Hotel. Tickets for the ball are now available and may be obtained from any member of the Kingston Newspaper Guild or committee members.

JOHNNY MICHAELS

Johnny Michaels Signed for Dance By Benedictine Group

The Benedictine Hospital Auxiliary Spring Ball will take place Saturday, April 16 at the Governor Clinton Hotel, this city. It has also been announced that music for dancing will be provided by Johnny Michaels and his orchestra.

Called "Shower of Pink," proceeds of the ball will enable the Auxiliary to continue its work at the hospital.

Tickets may be obtained at the door or from the ticket chairman Mrs. Knute Beichert.

Goethe had begun the second part of his "Faust" as a young man and worked on its completion for more than 50 years.

CABRINI CHILDREN VISIT IBM

Twenty-four girls from the Cabrini School in West Park visited the IBM Plant in Kingston recently. Ranging in ages from 12 to 15, the girls were chaperoned by Mrs. Russell Jacobs, Mrs. John Hoskin, Mrs. Betty Long, Mrs. Sally Muscoso and Mrs. Robert Scherer. Dennis Beaver met the group in the main lobby and directed their tour through the various departments with the assistance of departmental managers. The IBM tour is one of several field trips the Cabrini students have taken this year. Mrs. Scherer is a member of the newly organized auxiliary at the Cabrini Home which makes these trips possible.

Yes, They Are Shorter

Italian designers in '66 reach an extreme with this "little girl" look model.

This ruffled number big in 1929, left a lot of knee on view.

This costume, seen at England's Ascot Races in 1928, took a slightly lower view on hem length.

A modest line, showing the knee but not baring it, was fashionable in 1927, date of this sport outfit.

A 1966 New York design holds the same line—merely a peek of knee.

Ultrashort skirts are the big fashion news today and inevitably recall the legendary high, high hemlines of the flappers four decades back. It may not settle any arguments, but just to refresh the memory here is how current knee-appeal creations lineup with high-style items from the high-hemline heyday, 1927-29.

Intact, Undamaged

U.S. Embassy officials said the bomb was intact and not damaged.

The bomb, described as a 20-megaton hydrogen bomb, was one of four lost from the B52 in the collision and crash in which seven airmen were killed. Eight other American airmen were killed in the crash of a C124 transport which was on a support mission for the search and recovery groups off Palomares Beach.

The other three bombs fell on shore and were quickly recovered. But two of them were damaged and left a residue of radioactivity which was cleaned up by removing nearly 5,000 steel drums of earth and vegetation.

Painful Embarrassment

While the naval task force commanded by Rear Adm. William S. Guest of Rome, Ga., searched off the coast, more than 800 U.S. Air Force personnel recovered wreckage from the crash on shore and removed the traces of radioactivity. At the end of the search today, only a handful of Air Force personnel were in the shore detachment.

Loss of the H-bomb was a painful embarrassment to the U.S. government despite its emphatic insistence that the bombs aboard the B52 were not armed and could not explode. Spain barred flights of nuclear-armed U.S. planes over Spanish soil, and the Soviets accused the United States of radioactive contamination of the Mediterranean. The United States denied the charge.

Dockers Defy Court Order

NEW YORK (AP) — Longshoremen virtually closed down Port Newark and Jersey City piers again today, defying a court order that told them to return to work.

Only one ship out of 21 was being worked in the morning, the Waterfront Commission reported.

Longshoremen worked normally in Manhattan, Staten Island and Brooklyn.

The walkouts are in protest against new work rules that went into effect last Friday, guaranteeing a minimum yearly wage, but cutting the work gang from 20 to 18 on cargo operations. Another reduction of one man is due in October.

Earlier, Thomas W. (Teddy) Gleason, head of the longshoremen's union, had predicted the wildcat strike would be over today.

Two court orders — one here and one in New Jersey — and pressure by union officials were used as weapons to break up the wildcat strikes that started last Friday at many piers.

Some of the 2,000 strikers — about 10 per cent of the Port of New York's normal work force — returned to work Wednesday.

Gleason, international president of AFL-CIO International Longshoremen's Association (ILA), did not amplify his statement Wednesday afternoon that all the men would be on the job today.

State Supreme Court Justice Irving H. Saypol issued a restraining order here Wednesday against the strikes.

Saypol acted on a request by the New York Shipping Association and stevedoring companies in the port. The association charged that the strikes violated contracts and were illegal defiance of the back-to-work order issued Tuesday by Burton B. Turkus, the industry arbitrator.

After Saypol issued the order against four locals of the ILA, Alexander P. Chopin, chairman of the shipping association, said in a statement that it was "time for the leaders of the ILA to demonstrate their ability to control their own memberships and to carry out their obligations under the contract."

The New Jersey court order was issued Wednesday night by Superior Court Judge N. K. Mintz from his home in Morristown. The order temporarily restrained four ILA locals from work stoppages at ships or terminal facilities in the Port Newark and Jersey City areas. The shipping association requested the order.

Hearings on the temporary court orders in the two states were scheduled for next Monday.

The strikes started as new work rules went into effect on the piers. The rules had been agreed to by the shipping association and the ILA under a new contract. One of the rules provided for the reduction of longshore work gangs from 20 to 18 men.

The Waterfront Commission reported that 23 ships were idle Wednesday and 1,497 longshoremen were off the job. The luxury line piers on the Hudson River in Manhattan were not affected by the walkouts. The commission reported that 81 other ships were being worked by 16,518 men.

Albany Publisher Gets Pi Delta Award

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gene Robb, publisher of the Albany Knickerbocker News and the Times-Union, was named a winner of Pi Delta Epsilon's National Medal of Merit today.

The national honorary fraternity for collegiate journalism selected Robb for its highest honor for his service to higher education.

Robb, president of the American Newspaper Publishers Association, is a director of the Associated Press, a Pulitzer Prize juror and a vice president of the International Federation of Newspaper Publishers.

tem with dispatchers working at the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital could be rendered absolutely worthless should an enemy attack cover us with the threat of radioactive fallout. These dispatchers must be able to operate under any and all conditions so that warnings may be issued to the public throughout the county. Ill or dead dispatchers would be useless.

A great deal has been said about the cost of this emergency operating center and Major Timmerman hopes the size of the building can be reduced and consequently the cost. He is recommending that the cost of the Ulster County Emergency Operating Center (EOC) with modification of present plans not exceed $120,000, of which $60,000 will be paid by the federal and $30,000 by the state and the remaining cost of $30,000 by Ulster County.

This is a very minimal cost for a communications center. The persons or their alternates who would be in this center in time of emergency would consist of the responsible heads of government in Ulster County plus the central staff members of Civil Defense, necessary radio operators and personnel to send and receive messages. The smaller sized center will provide space under present federal standards for about 40 people who would be divided into two working shifts.

Major Timmerman points out very definitely that this center is not a "bomb shelter"—it is not for the personal use of members of the Board of supervisors or anyone not engaged in emergency operations. He further points out that the present Emergency Operating Center in the basement of the Court House has been declared inadequate and not acceptable to Civil Defense authorities.

However certain standards are set up by Federal and State Governments before approval is given. He has received word that the funds originally allotted to him by the federal and state will be withdrawn on April 15 if no favorable action results by that date.

Former Kingstonian Maintains Dual Role; Works and Studies

When the graduating class of Broward Junior College stood up to receive its degree on January 24, 1964, the student who walked away with the highest average was not a fairly recent high school graduate but a working young housewife who had returned to school after an 11-year absence. She was Mrs. Geraldine Zanetti, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Long of 307 Clinton Avenue, Kingston. Mrs. Zanetti was graduated from Kingston high school in 1946.

Since 1960 Mrs. Zanetti had been leading a dual life, secretary by day and student by night. To the best of her knowledge she is the only student to graduate at that time who took every one of her courses in night school. At that time she received an Associate of Science Degree and in August of 1965 she received her Bachelor of Science Degree in Biology.

Since then she has continued her studies and in May will receive her Master degree.

For three and one half years Mrs. Zanetti had been employed as a full time secretary to Dr. Curtis J. Flanagan, Hollywood, Florida, Memorial Hospital pathologist. For six semesters Mrs. Zanetti, who with her machinist-husband, resides at 3001 Taft Street, Hollywood, Florida, hid the school books at the rate of 12 credits a semester in such subjects as zoology, geology, botany and the basic college courses.

In September 1965 she began her studies at Florida Atlantic University at Boca Raton, commuting from her home in Hollywood. In the morning she continued her work as secretary in the doctor's office, during the afternoon she took up her college work and in the evenings after college she taught as a substitute teacher in the Boca Raton school system, teaching special classes in science.

She says she returned to school because she "always loved to learn" and she hopes upon graduation in May to be a biology teacher or do research work in that field.

Asked when she did her studying, Mrs. Zanetti said after 10 p. m. when classes were over and housework had been completed.

Following her graduation from Kingston high school in 1946 she attended nurses training for two years but had to drop out because of rheumatic fever. Then she took business courses and an occasional adult education course.

Her mother said her daughter had always been like that — always interested in education and always busy at everything.

Dear Abby . . .

Love Is Where You Find It

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Thank you for the understanding you showed when someone asked what you thought of a 62-year-old woman marrying a "boy" of 25. I know something of that kind of marriage, having been married for five years to a fascinating woman who is my mother's age. We met when I was 20 and she was 55. She had been a widow for 20 years. For the next five years I dated all the young chicks and I ended up marrying her. She has 10 grown children, 38 grandchildren, and two great-grandsons. I have always had the feeling that my wife and I knew each other in another life somewhere in the 16th century. When I was a small boy I kept having recurring dreams in which I would promise an unidentified little girl playmate that I would come back to her. Years later, when my wife showed me a picture of herself as a little girl, it proved to be the replica of the childhood playmate in my dreams. You may use my name. I want to go on record as saying that being married to an "older" woman is wonderful. Sincerely yours, DAVID S. SASSO

DEAR ABBY: You keep insisting that men want to marry "nice" girls. That idea went out with World War 2. Don't get me wrong, Abby, I am still a "nice" girl, but I'm beginning to wonder if it's smart. I get heart sick when I go out with a fellow I think is different, and when he learns I am not about to play his game he says, "I'm not wasting my time with you. What do you think I took you out for?" Then I have to fight him off, and I have bruises to prove it. While I continue to cling to my high principles, I keep reading in the newspapers that fellows I fought off are marrying girls I knew had fast reputations. Then I could kick myself. What is a girl supposed to do anyway?

"TOO NICE"

DEAR NICE: She's supposed to behave herself. And almost without exception, the girls who have to fight off men, and have the bruises to prove it, prove only that they are leading the men on a bit too far.

DEAR ABBY: I had been going with a young lady for almost two years. Although our engagement had never been officially announced it was understood that we would be married this summer. Recently, while she was away at school, I met another girl, with whom I fell in love and married. Abby, do I owe the young lady I was going with before my marriage an explanation?

ROBERT

DEAR ROBERT: NOW, you're asking! Since it was "understood" that you and she would marry, you certainly do owe her an explanation. But you should have told her BEFORE your marriage that all was finished between you, and you were planning to marry another.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "CONFUSED" IN GREAT FALLS, MONT.: Maturity is a variety of things to many people. The famous psychiatrist, Dr. William C. Menninger defines it as "the capacity to love, to care about other people in the broadest sense . . . and to continue to increase this capacity beyond our families to the community to the state, to the nation, and to this shrinking little world."

KHS Baseball Team Has Solid Pitching, Good Defense

Cincinnati Picked in NL: Detroit Is AL Selection

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Jim Maloney and Sammy Ellis, Cincinnati's answer to Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale, may not make fans forget the Dodgers duo, but they could lead the pitching-rich Reds to the National League pennant.

Although Koufax and Drysdale have returned to the Dodgers staff following a collective 32-day holdout, the addition of trade-acquired Milt Pappas and Jack Baldschun to the Reds' pitching staff figures to lift them to the top spot for the first time since 1961.

But Maloney and Ellis will have to do for the Reds what Koufax and Drysdale did for the world champion Dodgers last year — provide that EXTRA that teams need to come out in front in the perennial five or six-team battle for the NL flag.

The Cincinnati duo won 42 games between last year, joining Koufax and Drysdale as the only 20-victory pairs in the majors. Maloney outdid Koufax in one department by pitching two no-hitters, and Ellis put together his 22 victories in his first season as a starter.

Here then is the predicted order of finish:

1. Cincinnati
2. Atlanta
3. San Francisco
4. Los Angeles
5. Philadelphia
6. Pittsburgh
7. Chicago
8. Houston
9. St. Louis
10. New York

The Cubs can't win the pennant, even with Leo Durocher as manager. The Astros still are building, the Cardinals are rebuilding and the Mets still are trying to lay the foundation.

Six Contenders
That leaves six possibilities, and any one of them could wind up on top after game No. 162. However, the edge seems to be with the Reds because of their strong pitching.

For starters there are Maloney, Ellis, Pappas, veterans Joey Jay, Joe Nuxhall and John Tsitouris and Jim O'Toole, who had a disastrous 1965, with a 3-10 record but at 29 should be able to make a substantial comeback.

Baldschun, who appeared in 65 games for Philadelphia last year, adds strength to the bullpen that was weak last season. He will join fireballing Billy Mc-

Father-Son Night Set by Wawarsing

Father and son night will be celebrated by the Wawarsing Sportsmen's Assn. at its regular monthly meeting on Tuesday, at the Honk Lake clubhouse. The supper will begin at 6:30 p. m.

John B. Gillette club president, will be chef for the evening.

At the last meeting, a reading of the proposed anti-pigeon menace bill now pending in the legislature was given. The bill was introduced by Assemblyman McBride at the request of Trustee DeWitt E. Clinton in behalf of the Village Board of Ellenville.

The association favors this legislation. At a hearing, no opposition was raised and the bill has been bottled up in the rules committee.

The subject will be discussed at the next Village Board meeting and by Trustee Clinton at the Sportsmen's meeting on Tuesday.

Cool, giving the Reds a solid right-lefty combine.

To get Pappas, the Reds gave up hard-hitting Frank Robinson, but there shouldn't be too much of a drop-off in run production with such bats in the line-up as Deron Johnson, Gordy Coleman, Vada Pinson, Pete Rose, young improving Tommy Harper and rookie infielder Tommy Helms.

Atlanta has all the ingredients with heavy hitting in Hank Aaron, Joe Torre and Ed Matthews plus solid pitching in 24-game winner Tony Cloninger, Ken Johnson and Wade Blasingame. The Braves also may be helped psychologically by having left Milwaukee.

The Giants have the incomparable Willie Mays and one of the best pitchers in the business, Juan Marchal. That's enough to make them pennant material. In addition, Lindy McDaniel will be valuable in the bullpen.

With Koufax, Drysdale and Maury Wills, the Dodgers have to be a contender. But the big question is how much the two hurlers will be affected by the 32 days they were away from camp.

If they can catch up quickly, the Dodgers will be right up there. If they fall behind at the start, the defending champs may have trouble catching up.

The Phillies again have shuffled their cards, acquiring Bill White and Dick Groat to go with a hard-hitting combine of Rich Allen and Johnny Callison. Jim Bunning, Chris Short and Ray Culp form a top crew of starters.

The Pirates also have heavy hitters in Willie Stargell, Donn Clendenon and batting champion Roberto Clemente. Vern Law, Bob Veale, and Don Cardwell, along with reliever Al McBean, form a solid pitching corps.

Still, Cincinnati would seem to have the edge in pitching quality. It was good enough for the Dodgers last year, and it should be good enough for the Reds this year.

NEW YORK (AP) — Picking the American League used to be a breeze. Put the Yankees on top, Washington at the bottom and then fill in the spaces. It doesn't work out that way any more.

It probably is safe to eliminate Kansas City, Boston and Washington before a bat is swung in anger. After that sixth-place finish, 25 games back, New York almost goes into the same category. Almost, but not quite.

There are those who believe the Yankees still may awaken and regain their lost glory. However, they are in the minority. Mickey Mantle is only a pinch hitter, Tony Kubek is retired and Jim Bouton still is looking for that fast ball.

This shapes up like a typical National League-type race with five of six teams having a chance at it. Minnesota has the bombers and Baltimore has added Frank Robinson's power. Eddie Stanky has the Chicago White Sox hustling and Cleveland is thinking big.

Granted that every club has a weakness that could prove fatal, Detroit looks like the best bet to this observer with a good balance of young and experienced pitching and pretty fair sock. Chuck Dressen will cook the chili and pull the strings. All he needs is a solid bullpen man and a little bit of luck in avoiding injuries.

At this time of year on a clear day you can see forever. It may look different in October. The following predicted order is guaranteed to put the kiss of death on the Tigers:

1. Detroit
2. Baltimore
3. Minnesota
4. Chicago
5. New York
6. Cleveland
7. California
8. Washington
9. Boston
10. Kansas City

Solid Pitching

Dressen can match any staff with Denny McLain, Joe Sparman, Mickey Lolich from the kiddie corps and Bill Monbouquette and Hank Aguirre from the oldsters. With Dave Wickersham for relief or spot starts, it looks like the best staff in the league.

A healthy Al Kaline and the slugging of Willie Horton and Norm Cash give Detroit solid run potential. The infield is solid, but not brilliant, and the addition of Dick Tracewski to back up the regulars should help. The Tigers are very thin in catching behind Bill Freehan.

Baltimore has the big boom with Boog Powell, Frank Robinson, Curt Blefary and Brooks Robinson but the absence of Dick Brown, who underwent brain surgery, leaves a gap in the catching department. It remains to be seen if Hank Bauer can find enough pitching to make up for the loss of Milt Pappas to Cincinnati. Dave McNally and Steve Barber on the starting line and Dick Hall and Stu Miller in the bullpen are the solid staff members.

There is a disposition to believe that the Twins won't do it again but this may be a horrible mistake. With Harmon Killebrew, Tony Oliva, Don Mincher, Jimmie Hall and Zoilo Versalles the defending champs have plenty of muscle. A second base gap and a leaky defense are the drawbacks. A healthy Camilo Pascual and a repeat of 1965 by Mudcat Grant could carry the Twins right into another World Series.

Stanky has been doing it with mirrors so far this spring, just like Al Lopez did for years with the White Sox. The pitching is only as solid as the bullpen pair of Eddie Fisher and Hoyt Wilhelm, who has been handicapped by a broken finger. The Sox hung in there last year, finishing second with Juan Pizarro winning only six games. If Eddie can do better he should be the manager of the year.

Many Problems
The Yanks' problems are many, starting with Mantle who has been limited to pinch hitting duties as he recuperates from shoulder surgery. Roger Maris appears to be back in the groove and Elston Howard is healthy.

Whitey Ford and Mel Stottlemyre are the solid pitchers. Two rookies, Roy White and Bobby Murcer, can hit but it remains to be seen if they can do the job in the field.

Cleveland packs good power in Rocky Colavito, Leon Wagner, Max Alvis and Fred Whitfield. Sam McDowell, Sonny Siebert and Luis Tiant provide a pitching nucleus.

The Angels hope to make a splash in their new Anaheim, Calif. home but the first division probably is beyond reach. Washington's pitchers have been getting bombed in the South and Gil Hodges may be pressed to hold eighth place. Boston still hits homers, but the youth program still is light years away. Kansas City has brought in Alvin Dark to handle a club that is short of everything but hope although their hitters can shake up a few pitchers.

California has more species of flowering plants than any other state.

Bach, Rios Lead Hurling Staff; Opener Next Week

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

"Strong on pitching, a good defense but lack of experience behind the plate and in the outfield." That's how coach Mike Rienzo describes the Kingston High varsity baseball team as he prepares it for the 1966 opener next Thursday against Arlington.

In Brian Bach and Gene Rios, the KHS coach has the best righty-left combination in the area. Add the names of Frank McGowan, a hard throwing left-hander and Gene Stoutenberg, a righty, and you find four top notch hurlers. The latter two played jayvee ball last year and were very impressive.

The infield is talented all the way around the diamond. Jack Schatzel is set at first base, Lou Perry at shortstop and Pete Watzka at third base. All three earned their letters last season and Perry, the squad's best hitter, made the All-DUSO team.

Second base is still open but it's a battle between Charles Green and Gary VanEtten, both of them returning letter winners. Tim Bowens will back up Schatzel at first. Perry can play third and VanEtten goes either at second or short.

Ed Mills, who handled the catching assignment last season, has been graduated. Brooke Jenkins appears to be the top prospect but he'll be pushed by Ron Valle and Mike Weishaupt. Valle caught on the jayvees and Weishaupt is a converted third baseman.

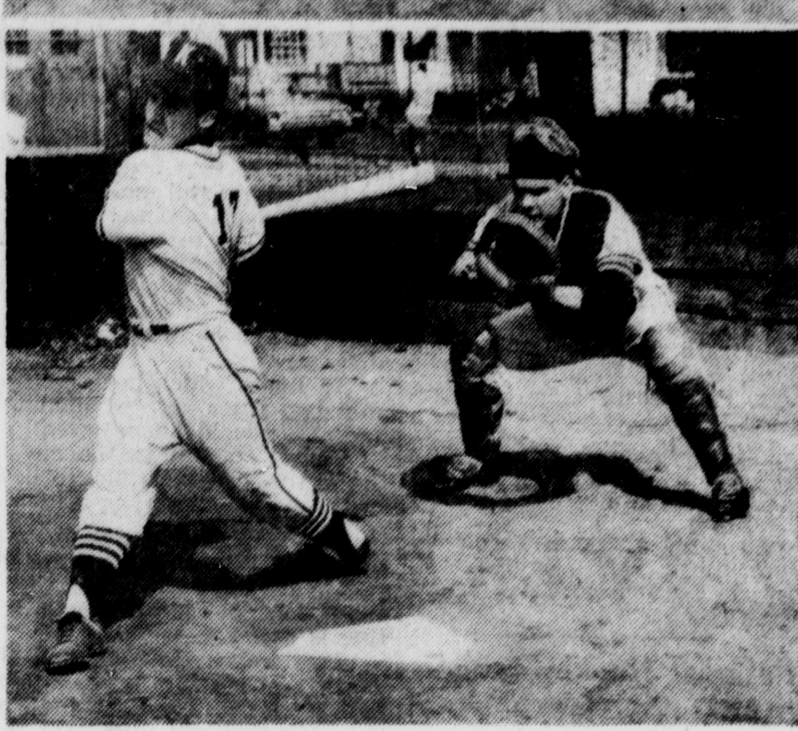

Bill Palen, John Eccleston and Joe Schabot, three hard hitting outfielders, are no longer around and Rienzo will have to go some to find boys who can hit as good as this trio.

Outfield Prospects

Bill Dugan, who alternated with Palen last season, seems set in left. Rios, who hits well, will probably play center when he isn't pitching.

Waiting in the wings are Ray Lindhorst, Andy Murphy, Dave Lindhorst and Andy Murphy.

St. Louis Wins

Celtics Go Two Up, Top Philly, 114-93

Maybe Wilt Chamberlain and the Philadelphia 76ers won't win the big prize in the National Basketball Association after all. Their pride stung when the 76ers ended their nine-year domination in the Eastern Division, the aroused Boston Celtics trounced the 76ers for the second straight time Wednesday night 114-93.

It was Boston's fourth straight victory in the NBA playoffs since they rallied from a 2-1 deficit to eliminate Cincinnati in the Eastern Division best-of-five semifinal. The Celtics now lead the 76ers 2-0 in the best-of-seven Eastern Division final, which resumes tonight in Philadelphia, and seem headed for their eighth straight NBA title.

St. Louis whipped Los Angeles 120-113 in the Western Division finals and now trail the Lakers 2-1 in the best-of-seven series, which resumes Saturday night in St. Louis.

When Philadelphia thwarted Boston's hopes for a 10th straight Eastern Division crown, Chamberlain, the league's Most Valuable Player, said, "This is just a down payment on the big one," referring to the league championship that goes to the winner of the playoffs.

A sellout crowd of 13,909 at Boston Garden saw big Bill Russell pace the Celts as they led all the way in routing the 76ers.

Russell had 29 rebounds, nine assists and 10 points in addition to many steals and blocked shots. Chamberlain ended with 25 rebounds and 23 points.

Bill Bridges, with 27 points, sparked St. Louis over the Lakers before a hometown turnout of 8,318. The Lakers, winners in the first two games of the series at Los Angeles, took an early lead.

The Hawks caught up and went ahead for good at 88-87 on Bridges' basket late in the third period. Zelmo Beaty followed with four points on a basket and two free throws and Bridges got another two-pointer to widen the gap.

Cadet Baseball, Lacrosse And Tennis Teams Seek Wins

WEST POINT — Critical games are on tap this Saturday for three Army teams that launched the spring season last week with victories. The baseball squad opens defense of its Eastern League crown by hosting Columbia at Do D'Almeida Field; the Lacrosse team makes its home debut against Rutgers at Clinton Field; and the tennis club takes on powerful Harvard on the Library Courts.

Saturday's baseball game could be a pitcher's duel as both Army and Columbia kick off their 1966 league campaigns. Barry DeBolt, twice an all-league choice and a winner over Long Island University last week, will get the mound nod for the Cadets. While Columbia figures to counter with junior Dave Hillis. A year ago Hillis compiled a 3-0 mark in league play.

The Lions are off to a fine start, already owning decisions over Vermont, Colgate and CCNY. In outfielder Pete Quinn they have a player who batted .342 last year in joining the all-league first team. Army can counter with shortstop Kenny Smith, who batted an even .400 last spring and batted out a pair of solid triples in the 9-3 conquest of Long Island U.

Army will be trying to make it ten straight wins over Rutgers when the two schools meet in lacrosse. The Cadets' powered Hofstra, 14-3, in their only appearance last week, while the Scarlet Knights took two of their first three starts. They defeated Virginia and Williams while bowing to Brown, 7-5.

The Cadets appear strongest where Rutgers is weakest — attack. Chris Pettit, a converted midfielder, netted six goals against Hofstra in teaming with Warren Dempsey and Ray Emerson for the first time. Paul Popson represents Rutgers' chief threat on the basis of his 23 goals and 35 assists last spring.

On the other hand, Rutgers is strongest where Army is weakest — defense. Pete Savidge, a second team all-American pick, Jack Emmer and John Okulski all played last year, and return intact as a unit. Army's defensive hopes lie with Matt DiFiore, Brian Uermahlen and Tom Schwartz. Uermahlen is a promising sophomore, while Schwartz, a football player, is out for the first time.

Coach Bill Cullen's tennis squad opened the season on a pleasant note last week by defeating Swarthmore, 6-3, but will have its hands full this Saturday with Harvard. The Cadets rate with the cream of the Ivy League crop, and have registered wins over the Cadets the last 17 meetings.

Graduation took all six singles players from last year's group, yet newcomers Barry Conway, Dick Bowers and Bill Campbell have filled in quite nicely at the first three positions. Rounding out the singles lineup for the Cadets will be Mike Yap, captain Joe Hardin and John Westlund.

Pine Bush Track Team Tops Dukes

Pine Bush set four school records and beat Marlboro's track team, 77-45, yesterday at Marlboro.

The visitors set their marks in the broad jump, shot, triple jump and 100 yard dash.

Marlboro, coached by Ed Sagarose, is now 0-2 for the season. The Dukes are at New Paltz next Wednesday.

Results: Pole vault — Zajicek, Pine Bush; Gundeman, Pine Bush; Fekisajcy, Marlboro. Height 9 feet.

High jump — Fisher, Marlboro; Johannson, Marlboro; Her-ring, Marlboro. Height 5 feet.

Broad jump — Dader, Pine Bush; Lynch, Pine Bush; Sili-berto, Pine Bush. Distance 19 feet, 5 inches (school record).

Shot — Swiat, Pine Bush; Baker, Marlboro; Licopoli, Marlboro. Distance 43 feet, 9 inches (record).

Triple jump — L. Zajicek, Pine Bush; Faulk, Marlboro; Barrington, Marlboro. Distance 40 feet, 5 inches (record).

880 yard run — Faulk, Marlboro; Lynch, Pine Bush; Brown, Pine Bush. Time 2:11.4.

1 mile — Roetter, Pine Bush; Johannson, Marlboro; Kinney, Pine Bush. Time 4:52.

220-yard dash — Loruenser, Pine Bush; Fisher, Marlboro; Terwilliger, Pine Bush. Time 25.4 seconds.

440 yard dash — Dader, Pine Bush; Seivits, Pine Bush; Gibbons, Pine Bush. Time 57.5 seconds.

Two mile run — Johnson, Pine Bush; Wood, Marlboro; Tobin, Pine Bush. Time 11 minutes, 9 seconds.

880 yard relay — Won by Pine Bush (L. Zajicek, R. Zajicek, Loruenser, Terwilliger). Time 1:43.2.

SIDELINE VIEWS

By ED PALLADINO

A year ago this time Los Angeles Dodgers were worrying whether the famed arthritic elbow owned by Sandy Koufax would enable him to do any pitching.

The rest is now history. He pitched and he won and so did Don Drysdale and Claude Osteen. Maury Wills stole everything in sight and the "powder puff" Dodgers went on to become World Champions.

WILL NOT REPEAT

We are not picking the Dodgers to repeat this season for the simple reason that Koufax and Drysdale missed 32 days of spring training and will probably not be ready to regain their true pitching skills until late in the month.

The National League is so well-balanced the Dodgers cannot afford to have either of their two aces in nothing but the best of shape when the firing begins on Monday.

A NOD TO THE PHILLIES

We cast a shaky ballot to the Philadelphia Phillies to beat what is expected to be a tightly bunched field.

Manager Gene Mauch, one of the best in the game, has two star hurlers in Jim Bunning and Chris Short and another potential star in young Jack Culp.

With Bill White and Dick Groat added to the infield, the Quaker City line has one of the best in the game because Richie Allen at third and Tony Taylor at second are still around. Also available are Bobby Wine and harmonica playing Phil Linz.

John Callison, one of the outstanding performers in the league, heads an outfield cast which includes Jackie Brandt, Tony Gonzalez and John Briggs plus rookie Adolpho Phillips.

A TIGHT SCRAMBLE

Behind the Phillies we lean to San Francisco, Los Angeles and Cincinnati in that order, but it can be easily reversed.

The Giants still lack a good shortstop. The Dodgers depend too much on their pitching staff and the Reds might miss Big Frank Robinson's bat in the lineup. He's now with the Orioles and Milt Pappas is a starter for the Reds.

Pittsburgh is picked fifth but the Bucs might do much better if they get off to a faster start. Atlanta (or Milwaukee) is tabbed sixth. The Braves have power to spare but the pitching is questionable.

St. Louis, which beat the Yankees for the World Championship two years ago, is building and there isn't much hitting. The Redbirds should finish seventh.

Chicago has added nobody but Leo Durocher to the team and the Lip is too old to play ball. An eighth place finish is likely.

THE IMPROVED METS

Wes Westrum has been saying all spring his Mets are better than ever before. We believe him and feel the New Yorkers will vacate the cellar. Ninth is their probable finish but if some of the young hurlers come through, seventh might be a reality. The hitting is there.

This leaves Houston and the Astros no longer have the advantage of playing in the Astrodome, their version of inside baseball. Each club has been there so the advantage is nullified. Therefore, Houston will take over the cellar spot occupied by the Mets.

GOOD LUCK TO WES

We have a particular interest in the Mets. Westrum, who visited this city twice during the past few months, is getting his first full-time chance at managing a ball club and his many Hudson Valley fans are pulling for him to come through.

Spring training games don't mean much but you can see that Wes has gotten the Mets to take off their coats of defeat and to start winning some of the close ones they always before lost.

At any rate, the National League promises to produce another one of its patented finishes and this time the Mets figure to have fun by knocking off some of the contenders.

Al Davis May Succeed Foss As Commissioner of AFL

HOUSTON (AP)—The American Football League met today after it was revealed that the league's nine owners and Foss were assembled here for a scheduled — but unannounced — executive committee meeting at which expansion was one of the items on the agenda.

AFL officials, meanwhile, would not comment on the reports which said:

Foss, the league's only commissioner since its inception in 1960, would announce his resignation, possibly to resume his political career.

— If Foss were to leave his job, he would be succeeded by Davis, the 36-year-old head coach and general manager of the Raiders who has made the Oakland club one of the most respected teams in the league.

— Chicago will become the league's 10th franchise and begin operations in the 1967 season, taking the AFL into territory now held by the rival National Football League.

— Blanda, who played with the Chicago Bears of the NFL before joining the Oilers, would be named the head coach of the AFL's Chicago entry.

Is Umpire-in-Chief

TORONTO, Ont. (AP)—Fred Blandford, a 30-year-old resident of Elmira, N.Y., is umpire-in-chief of the Eastern Baseball League.

Blandford, whose appointment was announced here Wednesday, joined the league three years ago, eight years after he followed his father, Murph Blandford, into the umpiring profession.

Wednesday in their final tuneup, and finished even with one under-par 35, Palmer said.

Both are working with new clubs, Nicklaus said he still doesn't feel comfortable with the driver he got after shattering in South Africa the driver he used since turning pro in 1962.

Player, who said he has been playing reasonably well in the practice rounds, has recovered from a bout with the gout that sidelined him last fall.

Course Is Dried

Strong winds have dried the course during the past few days after it was softened by a Sunday rain.

Nicklaus and Palmer definitely have to be reckoned with on this course, though, because there is no premium for accuracy and no substitute for length," he said.

Venturi twice just missed winning the Masters. In 1956 he almost became the first amateur to win the title, but after leading for three days shot himself out of the championship with an 80.

In 1960 he lost by one stroke to Palmer, who also won the title in 1958, 1962 and 1964.

Those setbacks were forgotten by Venturi fans two years ago when he won the U.S. Open with a courageous showing on a hot, humid day in Washington.

"That's the kind of weather I'd like now," Venturi said.

Venturi was ranked with Doug Sanders, Bruce Devlin, Gay Brewer Jr., Tony Lema and Billy Casper as the most dangerous challengers to the Big Three.

Nicklaus and Palmer played a head-to-head practice nine

Kitty Fowler Wins Sugarloaf Slalom

Kitty Fowler of the Trail Sweepers Ski Club won first place in the Junior Girls I division ages (16-17) in the 15th annual Sugarloaf Slalom and Giant Slalom held at Sugarloaf Mountain, Me., last weekend.

Miss Fowler beat June Howe of the host club.

In the overall results, including Women and Junior Girls I and II, D. Fisher of Eastern Slopes Ski Club had the best time. Miss Fowler was fourth.

There were about 300 entries in the divisions, of which 32 were in the women's division.

It is indicated that Miss Fowler will receive an I-B classification from the U. S. Eastern Ski Assn. as a result of her first place finish.

Miss Fowler plans to enter Western State College of Colorado in the fall and she plans to continue her competitive skiing.

Baseball Roundup

Robinson's Home Run Defeats Yankees, 2-0

By MURRAY CHASS

Associated Press Sports Writer

Fortunately for the Baltimore Orioles, Frank Robinson is not four years younger.

If he were, the 30-year-old Robinson probably would still be with the Cincinnati Reds, and the Orioles would not have his potent bat to help them in their quest for the American League pennant.

Robinson socked his eighth homer of the spring Wednesday, a two-run blast that gave the Orioles a 2-0 victory over the New York Yankees.

The veteran outfielder rapped three hits, raising his exhibition average to .388. The homer, following Curt Blefary's double in the sixth inning, increased his runs batted in total to 17.

All of this has come in Robinson's first spring away from the Reds, for whom he toiled for 10 seasons. He was traded last Dec. 9 for pitchers Milt Pappas and Jack Baldschun and outfielder Dick Simpson.

Robinson's homer supported the combined two-hit pitching of Jim Palmer, Eddie Watt and Stu Miller. Palmer held the Yankees hitless for five innings, but pitcher Al Downing doubled against Watt in the sixth.

Phillies Bow, 5-1

Ray Sadecki and Dennis Aust collaborated on a four-hitter as St. Louis downed Philadelphia 5-1. George Kerner drove in three Cardinal runs and lashed two singles and a double.

Cincinnati edged Minnesota 3-2 on Tommy Harper's run-scoring infield single in the ninth inning. Deron Johnson singled, raced to second as Pete Cimino uncorked a wild pitch, moved to third on a ground out and dashed across as Harper beat out the hit down the third base line.

A seven-run explosion in the sixth inning carried Boston past the New York Mets 8-7. Tony Conigliaro doubled across one run in the inning and walked with the bases loaded for the eventual winning run. Dick Stuart hit a three-run homer for the Mets in the eighth.

Cleveland nipped Los Angeles 6-5 on Bill Davis' bases-loaded, run-scoring single in the ninth. Duke Sims and Larry Brown homered earlier for the Indians.

Eddie Mathews homered in the first inning and sparked Atlanta to a 3-1 victory over Houston while Ty Cline's run-scoring single and Wes Covington's sacrifice fly gave the Chicago Cubs a 3-1 victory over California.

NHL Begins Stanley Cup Playoffs Tonight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The regular season champion Montreal Canadiens and the second-place Chicago Black Hawks are favored to win the best-of-seven Stanley Cup semifinals opening tonight. But Chicago Coach Billy Reay, for one, isn't taking the opposition too lightly.

Chicago won 11, tied two and lost one against the Detroit Red Wings, their semifinal opponents, in season play.

Reay, though, looked at it this way on the eve of their first Cup match in Chicago Stadium:

"The Wings will be tough. There's all this talk of us winning in five, but you can't count on that. I'm ready for a seven game series. It won't surprise me if they come out flying."

Coaches of the Canadiens and Toronto Maple Leafs said they were certain their teams would turn in superior performances in the series starting in the Montreal Forum.

"I'm very confident about our chances against the Maple Leafs," said Toe Blake, Montreal's bench boss. "We closed the season with a rush and that will help our chances."

"We have a better bench than last year," said Toronto pilot Punch Imlach. "This makes us a better club than a year ago and I don't think the Canadiens have improved that much."

The Leafs had the edge in the season series between the clubs, losing five, with two ties.

The Canadiens, defending Cup titleholders, eliminated the Leafs in a six-game semifinal, then beat the Hawks in seven for the title last year.

The second games of the semifinals will also be played on Montreal and Chicago ice, the Montreal-Toronto tilt on Saturday night and the Hawks-Red Wings meeting Sunday afternoon.

Fitness Club Sets Exercise At Forsyth Park

Kingston Running and Fitness Club invites all men 25 to 50 to Forsyth Park on Lucas Avenue on Saturday for a "jog through the park."

The group will meet at the lower ball field at 9 a. m. Starting the week of April 11 the group plans hikes through the park every Saturday and Sunday starting at 9 a. m.

Men from Red Hook, Saugerties, New Paltz, Kerhonkson, Ulster Park and other nearby communities are invited to participate.

Weekend running clubs have been formed in many states, most notably in New Jersey, where it has been found that such exercise under controlled conditions, tends to benefit one's overall health since lungs, blood circulation and muscular systems are improved.

A short talk on the benefit of good diet will be given after the running program, and health booklets will be distributed.

KHS Baseball

Bunch and Joel Tomson. Bunch is a transfer student and the others played jayvee ball.

Kingston finished in a triple tie for the DUSO title in 1965 but lost to Newburgh in a playoff. The Goldbacks eventually captured honors.

Rienzo sees this year's race as a close one. "Port Jervis has its entire club back. Middletown is good in pitching and Newburgh is always to 'gh' is the way he describes the league.

Like all schools, Kingston has been hampered by the cold and damp weather. Bach, who is being eyed by several major league teams and colleges, has a tender arm. It's expected to respond in time for him to hurl the opener next Thursday.

Poplar Wave Wins Yonkers Feature

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Frank Popfinger drove Poplar Wave to victory a nose ahead of 3-5 favorite Idaho N. in the $5,000 Caduceus Pace at Yonkers Raceway Wednesday night.

In My Heart, a 3-2 favorite, won the $1,600 pace at Batavia Downs, the only other harness track currently operating in New York State.

In the Yonkers feature, the four-year-old daughter of Shadow Wave paced the mile in 2:04 1-5. Timely Queen was third.

Poplar Wave returned $19.40, $4.60 and $2.80.

In My Heart, timed in 2:09 3-5, was trailed by a length by Dottie Bright. May 3 finished third in the mile event.

In My Heart returned $5.00, $3.20 and $2.60.

Army Cindermen, Golfers in Action

WEST POINT, N. Y.—Army's track and golf teams swing into their 1966 seasons this Saturday with home appearances. The cinder team meets Penn State at Shea Stadium at 1:30 p. m., while the golfers will face Columbia and Rutgers in a triangular at the West Point Golf Course.

This will be the lone home appearance in April for the track team. Following the dual with Penn State, the Cadets will be at Yale, Natre Dame and the Penn Relays in Philadelphia on successive Saturdays before returning to Shea Stadium May 7 for a meeting with Manhattan.

Last year the Nittany Lions topped the Cadets, 84-70, at Penn State. Again they boast strength in the distance events, sprints and javelin as they seek their second series victory over Army. The Cadets lead in the overall rivalry by a comfortable 7-1 margin.

Army coach Carleton Crowell, who guided the Cadet cindermen to a 6-3 record indoors this past winter, hopes to rebuild the outdoor fortunes around 16 lettermen and a promising crop of sophomores. There seems to be adequate depth in the field events, especially the shot put, pole vault and high jump, while the running game has improved considerably in recent workouts. Five lettermen return from the golf team which closed out its 1965 season with 13 straight victories, matching the Academy record for the most consecutive wins. A new mark can be written into the books came Saturday.

Coach Denny West, starting his first season as Army's golf mentor, has some fine talent on hand from last year's Plebe squad to complement the veteran nucleus. All things considered, Army again must be considered a threat in Eastern college golf circles.

The track schedule follows: April 9—Penn State, 16—at Yale, 23—at Notre Dame, 30—at

Dietzel Considered Several Job Offers

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP)—Paul Dietzel said he considered three other coaching offers this spring before deciding to leave Army to become head football coach and athletic director at the University of South Carolina.

Penn Relays, May 7—Manhattan, 14—Heptagonals at Yale, 21—Harvard, 28—ICAA meet at New York City, June 4—at Navy.

The golf schedule follows: April 9—Columbia and Rutgers 16—Syracuse, Pennsylvania and Manhattan, 23—Colgate and Princeton at Princeton, 30—at Dartmouth, May 7—Eastern Intercollegiate at Cornell, 14—Cornell, 21—Seton Hall, 28—at Penn State, June 4—at Navy.

Wilson, Keyser, Spada Endorsed At GOP Meeting

The Executive Committee of the Ulster County Republican Committee met this week to discuss the problem of endorsing candidates who will be running on the Republican ticket this November.

Besides the Governor and other State officers who will be elected this year, local Republicans will be selecting candidates for Justice of the Supreme Court from the Third Judicial District, Member of Congress from the 28th Congressional District, a State Senator from the newly created 38th Senatorial District which includes Ulster and Dutchess counties, a Member of Assembly from the new 99th Assembly District which takes in all of Ulster County. In addition to the State and District offices, there will also be elected a county clerk and coroner.

At the meeting the Republican leaders from throughout the county Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson of Woodstock was endorsed to succeed himself. Deputy County Clerk Albert Spada of Kingston was endorsed as the candidate for county clerk and Coroner William S. Keyser of Kingston was endorsed to succeed himself.

A resolution was offered by Dominick Martorano, town chairman of the Town of Lloyd, to again endorse the candidacy of Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson of Woodstock. The resolution was seconded by Chairman Philip Davis of Rochester, and was unanimously approved by the members of the Republican Executive Committee.

Kingston City Republican Chairman John Ray Mayone moved the endorsement of Deputy County Clerk Albert Spada of Kingston for the office of County Clerk. Spada's endorsement was seconded by Town of Gardiner Chairman Warren McDowell and was also unanimously adopted. Spada, who has served as deputy county clerk since 1962, said that he was seeking the nomination following the announcement by the present county clerk, Lawrence D. Craft of Ellenville, that he would not be seeking reelection this fall.

Former Town of Shandaken Supervisor Reginald Every, Republican chairman of the Town of Shandaken, offered a resolution endorsing the candidacy of Coroner Keyser of Kingston as the party candidate for coroner. Town of Ulster Chairman Donald Parish seconded the nomination and the motion was unanimously adopted.

Action on an endorsement for a later date.

Town of Olive Opens Bids for Swimming Pool

The Town of Olive board opened bids for the swimming pool to be located in the town grove at its April meeting Tuesday night.

Two bids were received. One from E. Balmer of Shady for $21,470 and the other from Michael J. Perry of Kingston for $20,500.

The board put aside the bids pending further study. Bids for the town were read and approved in the amount of $4069.10 out of the general fund. Highway vouchers were read and approved in the amount of $2,493.85 out of the highway fund.

A letter was received from the fire company requesting a street light and maintenance, to be installed at Firehouse #2. No action was taken as an investigation is deemed necessary.

Supervisor Lester Davis said the town is receiving fuel oil at a cheaper rate to county bids.

A policy for extended sick leave and benefits for employees was voted unanimously by the board.

Town Clerk Oliver Crawford received a letter from the State Highway Department advising that up-to-date town road maps of the Town of Olive were available upon request.

The town was granted a Citizens Radio Station License, KOD 2305 for the two way radio system, presently installed in motor vehicles and the police car.

The board approved the Youth Commission's program for summer recreation, including a remedial reading program in cooperation with the Onteora School System.

Dockers Returning

NEW YORK (AP)—Striking longshore foremen, whose crews have virtually closed Port Newark, voted today to return to work by nightfall.

Foremen and gangwaymen from locals 1233 and 1235 of the International Longshoremen's Association voted in Newark in late morning to return to work there by 7 p.m.

The vote, taken at the close of a three-hour meeting, appeared to clear the way for a resumption of work by about 1,000 men who had stood idle during the morning.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market posted a gain on balance early this afternoon despite caution prior to the three-day Easter weekend. Trading was active.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .3 at 349.4 with industrials up .2, rails up 1.0 and utilities up .1. Stock markets will be closed Good Friday.

Prices were mixed at the start but gradually developed a slightly higher trend despite profit taking in many issues which have made gains in the recent recovery drive.

Solid group leadership was not apparent although rails were up on average.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up .84 at 946.10.

The Wall Street background was regarded as encouraging for higher prices later in the spring, brokers said, but the uncertainties of the three-day weekend restrained enthusiasms.

After a mixed start, prices moved generally higher on the American Stock Exchange. Corporate bonds were unchanged. U.S. Treasury bonds declined.

Pan-American Day

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson today proclaimed next Thursday—April 14—as Pan American Day and said progress under the Alliance for Progress must be quickened.

Johnson also proclaimed next week as Pan American Week and wrote that achievements of the alliance so far are only a beginning.

CABLEVISION AWARD WINNERS—Winners in the recent Kingston Cablevision Inc. sales promotion were announced today. Enrollment . . .

In the master plan will contain approximately 10,000 square feet of floor space. The first phase of construction will consist of 70,000 square feet, and, with construction contract costs, equipment, roads, parking areas, sewage and water systems, sidewalks, general site development and professional fees, will cost approximately $2 1/2 million.

Of this amount Ulster County will pay only $650,000. The balance of the cost will be met by a federal grant of $829,000, New York State matching funds of more than $800,000 and the cash gift of $165,000 from Macdonald DeWitt, now trustee emeritus of the college.

The first phase of campus development is slated to be ready for college occupancy by next February. This will include a library building, a science building, a business studies building and all-purpose building.

The library building will be named for Macdonald DeWitt.

Will Be 2 Stories

The library will be the only two-story building on the campus and will be in the geographic center of the campus. It will serve as a learning resource center and will be central to all campus academic activity.

The library has been designed for later installation of a mezzanine for a second level of books and reading areas. Initially, library services will be located only on the second floor. Due to space limitations of the first phase of campus development, the first floor will be used temporarily for classrooms, a language laboratory and certain administrative offices.

The science building will be on the eastern edge of the complex and will be 400' long. It will contain a 120-seat multi-media lecture hall equipped for closed circuit television reception and for rear screen projection, remotely controlled by the instructor.

The science building is designed for six laboratories—two for biology, two for chemistry, one for physics and one for physical science. However, because of initial space limitations, one biology laboratory, one chemistry laboratory and a physical science laboratory will have to be used for general classroom purposes when the building is first opened to students next year. It will be necessary to use them for this purpose until new classroom space becomes available through additional construction.

On Western Edge

The business studies building is on the western edge of the campus and, in the absence of a technology building, will share part of its space with industrial technology programs. On the first floor accounting, business machine and secretarial programs will be in laboratories specifically designed to meet their needs. Each laboratory will be functional and have the most modern equipment. Space designed for a future data processing and computer technology laboratory will temporarily house the electronics laboratory. Space designed for a future administrative secretarial laboratory will temporarily be used for the engineering graphics program.

In the basement of the building, a mechanical technology laboratory is located. It is anticipated that this laboratory will remain permanently in that location.

The fourth building will be the all-purpose building, ultimately planned to house the college's administrative offices. But due to space limitations only administrative purposes in the beginning. The balance of the building will be used for a reception and information center, college switchboard, and for a food service area. The food service area will contain a snack bar and vending machine service and there will be seating for about 150 students.

While the development of the first phase of construction at Stone Ridge is a significant step forward for Ulster County, the general academic limitations of the first phase of construction are even more dramatic when it is noted that the 1965-66 full-time enrollment of 595 will grow to 675-700 by next September and to 950-1000 full-time students by 1970.

The evening enrollment of the college is expected to grow and keep pace with the full-time enrollment.

It is, of course, recognized that all projections are subject

Report Shortages Of Men's Wear, Shorts to Suits

NEW YORK (AP)—In Missoula, Mont., a store hasn't had men's boxer shorts, size 34 for three weeks.

"We can't get them," said J. E. Meyer of Missoula Mercantile Store. "I couldn't believe it until I talked to the mill."

Meyer blames stepped-up military buying for the war in Viet Nam for his short supply of shorts.

Shortages of men's clothing and textiles—particularly sheets—are showing up in some stores across the country. Other stores, however, report no supply problems.

Some stores reporting shortages blame the demands of a soaring economy, some the New York City transit strike in January that cut production in the garment industry.

The National Retail Merchants Association issued a bulletin to its members last week, calling on stores to avoid excessive inventory buildups.

Ely R. Callaway, executive vice president of Burlington Industries, Inc., said with the industry operating near capacity, further acceleration of military requirements would produce temporary dislocations in some civilian areas.

Joseph H. Cohen & Sons Inc., which makes men's suits and sport coats, said it has turned one of its eight shops in Philadelphia over to military production.

Col. Robert M. Ferrell, chief of the Defense Personnel Support Center's textile and clothing division, predicts that government apparel and textile demands may triple this year.

He estimates military expenditures for apparel and textiles will soar to between $850 million and $1 billion in the fiscal year ending June 30, the most since the Korean War.

In the previous year, Uncle Sam spent $320 million on textiles and clothing.

A nationwide Associated Press spot check of department and discount stores disclosed reports of shortages of sheets in Juneau, Alaska; men's work clothes in Atlanta, Ga.; shirts in Baltimore, Md.; men's blue jeans in Daisy, Tenn.; and brushed denim pants in Helena, Mont.

Sheer wool suits were reported in short supply in Dallas, Tex.; textiles in St. Louis, Mo.; pillow cases in Cleveland, Ohio; men's cotton slacks in Honolulu, Hawaii; men's suits in New Orleans, La.; men's towels in suburban Phoenix, Ariz.; socks and underwear in Wichita, Kan., and men's clothing in Portland, Ore.

No supply problems were reported from stores checked in Chicago, Des Moines, Iowa; Detroit; Columbus, Ohio; Harrisburg, Pa.; Indianapolis, Ind.; Memphis, Tenn.; Miami, Fla.; Milwaukee, Wis.; New Haven, Conn.; Newark, N.J.; Oklahoma City, Okla.; Philadelphia; Portland, Maine and Washington, D.C.

Treasury Receipts

WASHINGTON (AP)—The cash position of the Treasury:
Balance	$5,420,698,594.86
Deposits fiscal year July 1	$94,315,355,719.68
Withdrawals
fiscal year	$106,007,233,000.00
Total debt	$321,121,054,642.09

to change and, with the marked business and industrial growth of the valley, it is clear that there will be a tremendous resulting impact on the college. It is noted similarly that the growth of the college has an effect on the growth of business and industry in the area.

Ulster County Community College has grown beyond anyone's imagination in its first three years and will continue to grow in the years ahead to meet the needs of the ever increasing number of county residents.

As satisfying as the development of the first phase of the master plan is, it is imperative that speedy action be taken to complete the entire master plan so that the people of Ulster County can have the community college they want, need and deserve.

Ants, oldest city-dwellers, have lived in miniature cities for more than 80 million years.

Friend's Advice
Rarely Works Out

Q) "I have 50 shares of U. S. Industries which I bought on the advice of a friend. I know little about the market and since it has been on the downside, perhaps I'd better keep what I have. This is my only investment. What do you suggest?" — L. H.

A) My first advice to you is never again to buy stock on a friend's advice. Unless he is unusually knowledgeable, his suggestions are likely to be second—or third-hand and quite unreliable. Always try to get professional advice if possible.

U. S. Industries is speculative, subject to considerable variation in earnings and price. The company is mainly a capital goods machinery producer. For the past decade, the shares have made no upside progress. U. S. Industries is considered well-managed and has recently diversified its product line and abandoned some unprofitable operations. The stock is not suitable for a person in your situation.

You should have top-quality—as indeed should most investors. I suggest that you switch U. S. Industries into Corn Products, which now looks relatively cheap. Q) "I have some U. S. Treasury bonds that pay me only 2 1/2 per cent. Do I have to lose money if I want to sell them? If I do, where do I sell them?" — M. G.

A) I am sorry to say that you would have to take a loss under present conditions. These bonds are traded in the open market just like corporates and fluctuate on changing money conditions. If you hold bonds maturing next year, your loss would be relatively small. If you hold longer-term bonds, your price decline would be much more. The only Government bonds not subject to fluctuation are savings bonds, where redemption is made directly through the Treasury itself.

I advise you to hold your bonds at present levels. There may be some further decline, but they are at their lowest price levels in many years. They may be sold, however, through almost any investment dealer.

East Continues In Cool Pattern

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The nation's weather pattern appeared unchanged today from the past several days — temperatures below normal in the eastern half and above seasonal levels in much of the interior of the Far West.

Unseasonably cool air from a low pressure system centered over the Great Lakes region dropped temperatures during the night and early morning into the 30s and 40s from the Midwest to the Atlantic Coast, including parts of the Southeast. Readings generally were about 10 degrees below normal in most sections.

More snow flurries and light snow fell intermittently across the Midwest to the Appalachians.

Generally clear and fairly mild weather continued in wide sections from the Rockies to the Pacific.

The mercury reached the 90s in parts of the Southwest desert region Wednesday, in the 80s in the interior valleys of California and Oregon and 70 near the Canadian border in central Washington.

Early morning temperatures ranged from 24 near Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., to 75 at Thermal, Calif.

War Losses Down

The political dissension among the Vietnamese did not affect the American combat toll last week but government and Communist losses were down by about 50 per cent.

The U.S. military command reported that 101 Americans were killed, 690 wounded and nine missing compared with 123 killed, 515 wounded and four missing in the week of March 20-26.

Vietnamese killed declined from 318 to 153 and missing from 58 to 28. The government does not announce its wounded.

Other allied forces reported 18 killed and 51 wounded compared with 28 killed and 58 wounded the week before.

Enemy casualties for the week of March 27-April 2 dropped to 962 killed and 73 captured, compared to 1,988 killed and 249 captured the previous week.

The new casualty report raised the number of U.S. losses in Viet Nam since January 1961 to 2,410 killed and 14,727 wounded.

Night Crime Is Cut on Subways

By JOHN MORGANTHALER

NEW YORK (AP) — "Operation Crackdown," which put uniformed policemen in every subway and train, has cut major nighttime subway crime by 62.3 per cent in its first year, the Transit Authority says.

But the transit police say they are strained by the extra night work, and demand that the 2,722-member force be nearly doubled.

"Operation Crackdown" was launched one year ago today by the then Mayor Robert F. Wagner after a series of brutal subway murders, robberies and assaults.

He assigned a policeman to every train and station from 8 p.m. to 4 a.m. Because there weren't enough transit police to do the job then, 800 regular city policemen were temporarily assigned to subway duty. The cost was placed at $1.8 million per month, counting the off-day overtime required of 1,000 city police.

Since then, the transit police force has been beefed up, most recently by 612 new officers on March 15. The authority says "operation crackdown" is so effective it will be continued.

The case that launched the plan was the murder of Andrew Mormile, 17, on a subway train in Brooklyn in March, 1965. Half asleep, Mormile was awakened by another youth who demanded cigarettes and money, which Mormile gave him.

A second youth demanded the same, and when Mormile said he had no more, the youth stabbed him repeatedly.

At least 15 persons saw the murder, but it took police several days to locate any of them.

Mormile lay dying only 15 feet from the enclosed motorman's cab at the front of the train, but the motorman was not informed of the stabbing until two stops later. It took him more stations to find a transit patrolman, who called an ambulance, but the victim was dead when it arrived.

Within three months after "Operation Crackdown" got under way, the Transit Authority said serious crime was down 60 per cent. As the first anniversary neared, the authority reported 223 felonies had been committed at night compared to 589 the previous year. Including daytime hours, major crime was down 37.5 per cent.
